Ex-Governor White Dies in Florida at 81

Two-Term Democratic Leader Backed Cox In White House Bid

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—George White, the genial, cigar-smoking former governor of Ohio, died here late last night at 81.

He had been a patient at Good Samaritan Hospital since Dec. 10.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in White's home town of Marietta, Ohio, with the Rev. A. T. Christy officiating. The body will lie in state at the Dounda-McClure Funeral Home in Marietta and burial will be in the Oak Grove Cemetery.

The name of the Elmira, N. Y., boy who struck it rich panning for gold in the Klondike was a familiar one on the national political scene.

Led Cox Campaign

He led the unsuccessful presidential campaign for Ohio's Gov. James M. Cox of Dayton the year Cox was defeated by another Ohioan—Sen. Warren G. Harding of Marion. Franklin D. Roosevelt ran for vice president on the ticket with Cox that year. White tried unsuccessfully for the presidential nomination himself in 1932 as a favorite son candidate from Ohio.

He defeated the Republican incumbent, Myers Y. Cooper, to become governor of Ohio in 1930. Two years later he defeated David S. Ingalls of Cleveland for a second term.

He previously had served three terms in Congress as representative from the Marietta, Ohio, district. He made unsuccessful bids for the U.S. Senate in 1928, 1934 and ran again for governor in 1940 only to be defeated in the primaries.

New Dealer

A staunch New Dealer during the 1930s, White supported Republican Wendell L. Willkie in his campaign against Roosevelt in 1940.

A heavy-shouldered, six-footer, White took the long way around to enter politics.

He was born in Elmira, Aug. 21, 1872, son of a small retail businessman who went broke in the panic of 1873.

White's father started over again in Titusville, Pa. There George helped out, selling newspapers and working in stores. He entered Princeton University in 1891. The ruggedly-built lad spent summer vacations working in lumber camps and on farms to help pay his tuition.

Taught School

After Princeton, his career included stints as school teacher, tool dresser in the Pennsylvania and Ohio oil fields, gold prospector in the Klondike during the gold rush of 1898, and independent oil producer at Woodsfield, Ohio.

He took his first political post in 1905 when he became a member of the State Legislature. He was elected to the U.S. Congress in 1910, 1912 and 1916.

In private life, White was a vice president of the Peoples Banking & Trust Co. of Marietta, where he moved in 1903, three years after he was married. His wife later died, leaving him four children.

Bucyrus Firm Hit by Blaze, Loss $50,000

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — A $50,000 fire destroyed the Norton greenhouse, office and store here early this morning.

Bucyrus firemen fought the blaze for about four hours after the alarm was turned in at 4:10 a.m.

Destroyed in the greenhouse fire were thousands of plants and flowers, supplies of seed, office records and a delivery truck housed in the building.

The fire was discovered by the greenhouse owner, Arthur Norton, when a bell aparatus, located in the greenhouse and connected to the next door Norton residence, sounded the alarm. The bell system is used as a warning when the greenhouse temperature climbs too high.

By the time firemen arrived, the blaze had made rapid progress and all of the greenhouse was a total loss with the exception of the east wing. Norton said the fire did not threaten his residence at any time.

Fire Chief Ralph Mead said the fire may have started in the boiler room of the greenhouse, which is located underneath the store, but the exact cause of the blaze has not been determined. He said there is a possibility that an explosion occurred, since several neighbors reported hearing a blast about 3:30 a.m.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

DEAN DEPARTS. Special Ambassador Arthur Dean receives a bouquet from a Korean girl shortly before leaving Seoul en route home to Washington to report to President Eisenhower on the deadlocked Korean peace talks. Dean demands that the Communists apologize for their charge of perfidy against the U. S. before talks are resumed.

Heads Home

Dean Retains Hope For Korean Parley

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean headed for Washington today, hopeful that a Korean peace conference will be called despite seven weeks of no progress preliminary negotiations.

As he boarded a Pan American airliner for a nonstop flight to Honolulu, Dean told newsmen it is "distinctly possible" that talks to set up a peace conference will be resumed although it might take some time.

Dean, spokesman for 17 Allied nations which fought in Korea, broke off the talks Saturday and demanded that the Communists apologize for accusing the United States of conniving with South Korea to release 27,000 anti-Red prisoners last June.

The Reds have not apologized and today Peiping radio repeated the charge and accused Dean of wrecking plans for a peace conference.

Moscow radio also declared that suspension of the preliminary negotiations was part of "the long-term maneuvers of the United States for wrecking the armistice in Korea."

Dean will make a full report to the State Department on his return to Washington, where he is due tomorrow.

The U.S. envoy's chief adviser, Kenneth Young, returns to Korea tomorrow to await possible Communist retraction of the perfidy charge against the United States.

Although the outlook for a Korean peace conference was doubtful, South Korea's President Syngman Rhee told a news conference in Seoul that he would give the conference 90 days to make progress toward unification of his country.

Rhee stressed, however, that he would wait only a "certain time" for the conference to get underway.

In the past Rhee and other South Korean government leaders have threatened to drive northward against the Communists unless the war-torn peninsula were unified by late January—90 days after the conference was scheduled to open under terms of the armistice.

Allied diplomats here viewed Rhee's statement as a major policy shift which goes a long way toward easing the danger of a new outbreak of warfare in Korea.

Mercury Skids To 8; Continued Cold Forecast

An icy blast from central Canada sent the temperature tumbling to 8 degrees above zero here last night, coldest of the season to date.

Most of the midwest felt the sting of the wintry weather and between zero and 20 were general freezing temperatures extended into Texas. While temperatures of etween zero and 20 were general throughout the north central states, there appeared to be no relief from the cold for at least 24 hours.

The forecast is for near-zero readings again tonight with the low expected here to be again around 8. More snow flurries also are forecast for tonight and Thursday. Last night a trace of snow fell in Marion to add slightly to the nearly four inches which fell the previous day.

17th Polio Case Reported Here

A case of polio in Marion was reported today by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health officer.

Stricken is John Arnold, 11, son of Mrs. Howard Anderson of 787 Silver St.

Reports to Dr. Weinbaum were that the boy first became ill on Dec. 7 and was taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus yesterday where his illness was diagnosed as polio.

It is a rarity for polio to strike in Marion during the cold weather months. Health department employes reported they could remember no similar cases in December in recent years.

John is one of four children in the family and the others are to be given gamma globulin today. The home is also to be quarantined by health department officials. John is confined in Children's Hospital.

Last previous reported case of polio in the city occurred on Oct. 7 when three-year-old Elizabeth Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Baker of Oak Grove Ave. at the corner of Clinton St. was stricken. It was the 16th case and the case reported today boosts the total to 17 in the city and 27 in the county. This is the highest number of polio cases reported in the city and county during recent years.

Big Kitty Hawk Air Show Marks 50 Years of Flight

KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP)—Donald A. Quarles, assistant Secretary of Defense said today that aviation—since its birth here 50 years ago tomorrow—has transformed the military geography of the earth.

Quarles said, in a prepared luncheon address, that the art of flight "hsa not only revolutionized the art of war but has completely changed the relationships of the nations of the world."

"With the possible exception of gunpowder, no other breakthrough in technology has had such a profound effect on the military art," Quarles declared.

Quarles spoke as the armed services marshalled the greatest military air tribute ever paid to the Wright brothers and to the place where they flew the world's first powered airplane.

More than 200 airplanes, helicopters and blimps, from a wide range of bases throughout the southern and eastern states, were assigned places in a great air show to commemorate the golden anniversary of powered flight.

A Pentagon spokesman said it was easily the most elaborate air event of 1953, "bigger even than

Eisenhower To Press for Atom Control

Will Continue Efforts Even if Russia Turns Down His World Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will keep right on working for international control of atomic energy even if the Russians turn down his recent share-the-atom proposal.

The President made the statement at a news conference at which he also said he does not intend to ask any change in the Atomic Energy Act which would lead to this country's sharing scientific processes or techniques for building atomic weapons.

Not Giving Up Hope

Eisenhower said he is by no means giving up hope the Russians will decide to accept the proposal he recently made in a speech to the United Nations—that all the atomic powers join in a limited program of atomic research, with emphasis on peacetime power development.

But even a rejection of this offer by the Soviets, Eisenhower said, would not stop him from trying to meet the problem of international control in another way.

A reporter asked the President about Secretary of Defense Wilson's statement to the North Atlantic Council in Paris yesterday that Congress would be asked soon to permit the sharing of information on atomic weapons with its NATO allies.

Eisenhower replied that some changes in the law will be necessary before this country can realize the fullest advantages of atomic progress.

No Changes Contemplated

But no changes are contemplated, he went on, which have anything to do with the scientific processes involved in developing atomic energy or with the building of atomic weapons.

This appeared to mean that what the administration does contemplate, if Congress approves, is sharing information about the use of atomic weapons and perhaps sharing the weapons themselves with America's allies.

Along that line Eisenhower said it would depend on circumstances, meaning military circumstances, whether this country turned over atomic weapons to its allies.

He said if war comes America should use its atomic weapons in whatever way would be to the best advantage of the United States. Quite possibly, he said, it would be best to let an ally use American weapons under certain circumstances.

The President said the administration has received no official Soviet reaction to the plan he outlined to the United Nations General Assembly.

Other Matters

At the news conference, the President also:

1. Stated that the general objective of the series of conferences with GOP legislative leaders which he will begin tomorrow is to secure a meeting of minds. The President added that must be accomplished, so far as the executive and legislative branches of the government are concerned, if our kind of government is to operate successfully.

2. Commended Vice President Nixon on the accomplishments of the world tour he completed this week. Eisenhower said both the official reports and those in the press make it clear that Nixon did a splendid job. The vice president and Mrs. Nixon represented the United States in an admirable fashion, the President said.

3. Declared in effect that he agrees with Secretary of State Dulles' remarks prodding France to ratify the European Defense Army project. The law of the land, the President said, already provides that 50 per cent of this year's appropriations for foreign aid must be channeled into the European Defense Community, which has not been set up as yet. If there is no

U.S. Campaign To Sway POWs Near Collapse

Three of 22 Reported Ready To Return; 19 Continue Holding Out

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Allied campaign to win back balky war prisoners appeared to have collapsed today and an Indian spokesman said 22 Americans and 1 Britton who chose communism are fully aware that time is running out.

A South Korean prisoner repatriated from the pro-Communist compound today said, however, that 3 of the 22 Americans want to be repatriated.

Pfc. Kim Mun Du said most of the 77 South Koreans remaining to be interviewed also would ask to return home. He asserted the Communists deliberately stalled further interviews so they would have no choice.

Kim asked his Indian guards for repatriation and was returned to the U. N. Command today. He

Little Progress Made Toward Bus Settlement

No progress toward settling the threatened strike of Marion Transit Inc. bus drivers, which is scheduled to begin Friday, has been made. The strike, if it goes into effect, will stop all bus service in the city.

Floyd W. Kreisel, president of the company, said today no new developments have been made in the situation. Drivers are demanding the heating units in the buses be repaired immediately, and a long-range repair program be put into effect.

Company officials say they are unable to meet the demands because of a lack of funds. They point out patronage on the buses has dropped off considerably since last year, and money for repairs is not available.

The drivers are members of Local 222, Transport Workers of America.

Boxes Suggested For Excess Mail

Not one mailbox in 50 will hold all the mail that is delivered to one house on a single day of the Christmas season, Postmaster Homer D. Cole said today.

He advised local residents to place containers on their front porches to hold excess mail that will not fit into mailboxes.

If such containers are not put out, he said, carriers will have to leave the overflow of mail on porch floors wheer it will be in danger of theft or damage due to inclement weather. Boxes or wastebaskets will suffice, he said.

6-Month Detention Home Term Given JoAnne Gallina

JoAnne Gallina, 17, of 901 York St., was found guilty of second degree manslaugther in the death of her 16-year-old schoolmate, Joyceann Stoner, and was sentenced to six months in the Marion County Juvenile Detention Home in a Juvenile Court hearing Tuesday.

Juvenile Judge Edward J. Ruzo, in pronouncing sentence, deferred it until Jan. 1 in order to enable Miss Gallina to spend Christmas at home with her family and to enable her attorneys to file any appropriate motions they desire.

He also suspended her driver's license for three years.

MISS GALLINA was the driver of an automobile in which Miss Stoner, of 368 Girard Ave., suffered fatal injuries Nov. 10 in an accident on Route 739 southwest of Green Camp shortly before 1 p.m.

The two girls, accompanied by two other schoolmates, Esther Newell and Marie Glenn, were returning from Richwood to Marion and were planning to rejoin a Business - Industry - Education Day tour of Marion industries sponsored by the schools and the Chamber of Commerce for seniors.

—:—

THE FATAL accident happened when Miss Gallina failed to negotiate a curve and the automobile left the highway on the left side, rolled over several times, and landed in a field on the north side of the highway.

Miss Stoner died the following morning in Marion City Hospital, where the cause of her death was listed as a cerebral injury. She also sustained a compound fracture of the right leg. She was a passenger in the front seat with Miss Gallina.

Miss Gallina, also hospitalized, sustained a fractured leg. Miss

Kidnap-Killers Are Scheduled To Die Friday

Hall, Mrs. Heady Are Calm; Read Westerns, Do Crossword Puzzles

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Greenlease kidnap - killers spent part of their time today reading Wild West stories and working crossword puzzles, outwardly nonchalant about their execution early Friday.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old playboy, and Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, his paramour, gave no outward signs of cracking as their death in the gas chamber became only a matter of hours.

They pay with their lives, side by side a few minutes after midnight for the killing of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, which they planned together even before they kidnaped him Sept. 28 in Kansas City.

Still a mystery is what happened to half of the $600,000 ransom paid by Bobby's multimillionaire father Robert C. Greenlease, Kansas City auto dealer.

The missing money—which Hall has insisted he had with him when arrested in St. Louis the night of Oct. 6—has become the object of an inquiry by a federal grand jury at Kansas City, the FBI and the St. Louis Police Board.

Mrs. Jones is a mother of one son, Johnny, three and one-half years old, who is attempting to establish her own home after living with relatives for two years.

She has no money with which to buy furniture, all of her money going for food and clothing.

Mrs. Jones has started housekeeping with only the barest of necessities, securing a few supplies at various places.

She is in great need of a cupboard or cabinet, a comfortable chair, a chest of drawers or a dresser.

These are particular needs which would make this Christmas a much brighter and happier one for the Jones family.

Johnny could also use various items of clothing. He is size 4.

West's Plans Drafted for Berlin Talks

'Hold-Fast' Platform Is Adopted Against Red Bid To Kill Alliance

PARIS (AP) — The North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) ministers agreed today that the Western Big Three must hold fast against Soviet efforts to break up their 14-nation defensive alliance.

With pledges from American, British and French foreign ministers that NATO will not be surrendered at the proposed January talks with the Russians at Berlin, the NATO ministers began drafting a "hold fast" platform for the West in the final NATO council communique, official sources said.

Red Strategy Unchanged

The ministers unanimously agreed Soviet strategy and the Kremlin's ultimate aim of world domination for Communism have not changed even if Moscow agrees to meet in a four-power ministerial conference on the German and Austrian issues. The Russians have not yet replied to the western invitation to such a meeting.

Consequently, according to these sources, the ministers concluded the NATO structure must still be built up to a level adequate to meet the continuing threat of aggression, and must be reinforced by contingents of German troops serving under the colors of an European Defense Community (EDC) army.

The NATO council of ministers went into their closing sessions considerably cheered by the Eisenhower administration's pledge to try to get congressional approval for sharing some U.S. secrets on atom weapons.

Eases Dulles' Blow

The prospects of limited atomic cooperation, raised yesterday by U.S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, helped ease some of the sting left by Secretary of State Dulles' threat the day before that American aid to Europe may be cut if the European army isn't approved soon.

Wilson promised only that Congress would be asked to approve letting the NATO nations have "pertinent information" on how to use the atomic weapons America is building. He did not say the Allies might be told how to build them themselves.

Nor did he offer to share U.S. atomic weapons with anyone, but observers pointed out he said nothing to the meeting of Allied foreign, defense and finance ministers which would exclude the possibility of shipping atomic weapons to Europe, where the United States already has six atomic cannon.

Barred by Law

The McMahon atomic energy law at present bars the sharing of U.S. atomic secrets with foreign powers. Wilson said Eisenhower is prepared to ask Congress to amend the law.

The NATO ministers quickly approved these goals for their 1954 campaign to forge a stronger West European defense wall against Soviet aggression:

1. A 25 per cent hike in air power to give NATO close to 5,700 planes by the end of 1954. A high American official had said earlier the United States would contribute at least half the total increase.

2. A 5 per cent increase in ground forces to give NATO 103 front-line and reserve divisions.

3. A 15 per cent boost in naval craft, for a total of about 1,900 by the end of next year.

Wilson promised NATO allies the United States would keep up its supply to them of modern weapons and munitions.

War Claims Board Members Ousted By Ike To Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two members of the War Claims Commission removed by President Eisenhower say they have engaged lawyers to fight the President's action.

Mrs. Georgia L. Lusk and Myron Wiener, Democrats, made public yesterday letters to the President saying they planned action "to establish the impropriety" of their removal.

Expanding on their contention in interviews, they said they considered themselves still in office and that they understood the new Republican appointees to the commission had stopped payment of claims "and intend to investigate what the commission has done to date."

The new Republican chairman, Whitney Gilliland, said in an interview certification of claims has been halted temporarily until "the processes of their approval" were checked. But he said he thought the checks would be completed during this week and payment of approved claims would then be resumed.

Mrs. Lusk, a former membr of Congress from New Mexico, previously had said she would accept the President's action as final. But she said last inght she had changed her mind because of concern for the interests of claimants.

Wiener, a New York lawyer, said he felt he and Mrs. Lusk had been appointed for the life of the commission, which expires March 31, 1955.

Records Disputed

Democrats, GOP Clash On Fighting Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee and a Republican member of the Civil Service Commission are poles apart on the issue of which party has a better record in fighting communism.

The committee issued a statement last night, claiming "the facts show that under the Democrats, the United States has the most successful record of any free country in the world in crushing the effectivenes sof the Communist apparatus within its midst."

At the same time, Civil Service Commissioner George M. Moore, told the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia that "subversives and security risks on the federal payroll remained a problem until the American people spoke out . . . by electing President Eisenhower."

The Democratic committee put out a 16-page "facts sheet" that claimed:

1. The Democrats have passed seven antisubversive laws, while the Republicans—under four Presidents since World War I—have not enacted "a single major law directed at subversive activity."

2. The top leadership of the U. S. Communist party has been prosecuted and put behind bars by Democratic administrations.

3. The Communist party doubled in strength to 102,991 under the Hoover administration, but dropped to 24,796 during the next 20 years of Democratic rule.

The committee statement was designed to refute Republican charges that the Truman administration was soft on communism.

Moore said that Rep. Rees (R-Kan), a member of the House Civil Service Committee—not formerly President Truman—was responsible for the first federal employe loyalty order issued in 1947.

He predicted the Republicans will win in the 1954 congressional elections on the strength of the Eisenhower administration's "vigorous and efective action" against subversives and security risks on the federal payroll.

Meanwhile, John Lautner, a former Communist party leader, testified he was told in June 1945 that Earl Browder, then top U. S. Communist, "took orders" from President Roosevelt and his Cabinet.

Lautner, who was expelled from the party and now is a Justice Department consultant, told the Subversive Activities Control Board he heard this from Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, considered the No. 1 woman Communist in the United States.

His testimony on this point was allowed to stand in the record over the vigorous objections of Harry Sacher, lawyer for the Jefferson School of Social Science, who called it hearsay twice removed and "an effort to smear" Roosevelt.

Lautner testified at a hearing on a government bid to have the New York school labeled a Communist front.

Nightclub Patrons Gasp

Dietrich's Debut Daring in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Marlene Dietrich made her nightclub debut last night in the most revealing gown that show business veterans could remember.

The veteran glamour girl opened at the Sahara, and her first appearance drew a gasp from the capacity audience. She sauntered on stage in a gown of transparent black net and little else.

The gown, a clinging number designed by Jean Louis for a reported $6,000, revealed more than it concealed.

Joe Schoenfeld, entertainment veteran and editor of Daily Variety, said: "It's the most daring gown I've ever seen on a stage, and I covered New York burlesque in the old days.'

A consensus of other reviewers drew similar comments. I asked one what he thought of the gown. "What gown?" he replied.

"I think she was smart to wear it," said another, "People expect sex from Dietrich. They got it."

After the show, the glamorous grandmother served champagne for the press in her suite. She was dressed in a circus ringmaster outfit that exposed her famous gams. She was asked why she chose such a daring costume.

"This is Las Vegas," she replied. "If you cant wear it here, you can't wear it anywhere."

She was asked if her type of sex appeal hadn't disappeared from Hollywood. "Are you kidding?" she replied. "You've got Marilyn Monroe. You should have it so good."

How does she keep her fabulous figure?

"I have no system. I eat whatever I want. I dont exercise, but I keep active."

Will she do anymore nightclubs?

"Only if others meet my salary here. I'm drawing $90,000 for three weeks."

Chances are she'll play nowhere else. No other place can afford such a salary.

Miss Dietrich came on stage with the billing "the most glamorous star in the world—the woman and the legend." With her strawberry blond hair in a short cut, she was attired in the startling gown plus a 10-foot double train of black fox. She sang nine songs, including such favorites of hers as "Lili Marlene," "Falling in Love Again," and "See what the Boys in the Back Room Will Have." Her voice can best be described as a foggy and slightly off key baritone. But the patrons of the Las Vegas gambling establishment didn't seem to mind.

Aged Man Found Dead, Wife Hurt at Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Samuel Tyler, 84, was found dead in the attic of his Dayton home yesterday and his 74-year-old wife was found in a first floor bedroom with severe head injuries. Police said there were no marks of violence on Tyler. Coroner Robert E. Zipf said Tyler had been dead some 20 hours when a daughter-in-law found his body.

Seniors at Harding Receive Exams For Scholarships

Eight seniors took preliminary examinations in connection with the 13th annual Westinghouse science talent search at Harding High School Monday.

The students were: Barbara Thayer, Gareth Chamberlain, Allen Green, Judson Webb, Bruce Metcalf, Mary Lou Kruskamp, Joan Kreuter and Nancy Kunkle.

The tests were administered by Cecil W. Gabler, principal, and the science teachers.

The talent search for Westinghouse science scholarships is conducted annually by Science Clubs of America to discover and foster the education of boys and girls with skill, talent and creative originality in science.

Forty boys and girls who lead in the national preliminary examinations will be given all-expense-paid trips to Washington to attend the Science Talent Institute for five days early next spring and take the final examinations for the scholarships. One contestant will be selected to receive a $2,800 scholarship and another will be awarded a $2,000 four-year scholarship.

Christmas Not So White, Weather Bureau Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christmas may be a little less white than usual this year over much of the country.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, issuing a mid-December to mid-January forecast yesterday, predicted above-normal temperatures for the western third of the nation, the Northeast and the lower Great Lakes states.

Colder-than-usual weather was foreseen for the South and the Midwest, and about normal readings in other areas.

Reality vs. Dream

Without exception, his fellow countrymen applaud the hard-nosed attitude toward duty-shirking Europeans taken by Secretary of State Dulles at the NATO Council in Paris.

They, too, believe it is time for the French to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty and quit waiting to be coaxed.

They, too, share the idea that if Europeans are half-hearted about defending themselves there is no sense in letting their United States carry their burden.

They agree fully with Secretary Dulles that if Europeans do not cooperate with the United States in a policy of mutual responsibility for their mutual security this country should undergo an "agonizing reappraisal," as he calls it, of foreign policy. It should pull back from its advanced frontiers of defense.

But since his countrymen share so much of the firm attitude taken by their outspoken secretary of state, they also should share his misgivings.

There is more to the problem of keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organization from falling apart than being hard-nosed about governments which are stalling. The State Department is charged with responsibility for keeping America's allies together; it is no trick to force them apart.

The United States must do everything in its power to keep Europe from being overrun by the Soviet Union. That would be a catastrophe. From the Marshal Plan on up through the whole complex program of loans, grants, military aid and technical assistance, European independence of the Soviet Union has been the single aim of more than $40,000,000,000 worth of postwar assistance.

The United States must do everything in its power to promote the independence of European governments. But it also must keep them from being ruined by too much dependence on U.S. aid, which would be almost as disastrous as letting them be taken over by the Kremlin.

The ideal solution for the problem and for the security problem of the United States would be a United States of Europe. That is the dream of President Eisenhower; he spoke of it often when he was organizing the military defense of Europe. It is the dream of many European statesmen and of Secretary Dulles.

It would be shattered for all time if Europe fell apart and were gobbled up by the Communist conspiracy. With it would be shattered for all time the dream of a balance of international power which would secure the western world against the expansionism of the Soviet Union.

One for the Road

The director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Paul E. Burke, is putting publicity pressure behind the idea of making coffee the drink "for the road" at the breakup of holiday parties this year.

Burke explains in a letter containing this and other proposals for widening the 1953 safety margin that the coffee "nightcap" came out of a conference he had with tavern owners in 1952.

It caught on with fair success. This year it's likely a large number of bar patrons may be pleasantly surprised by a cup of coffee "on the house" before starting home. Burke suggests if the patrons fail to see merit in taking a coffee break for safety's sake that tavern owners might sell them one more high - potency drink at a premium price—the customer's car keys.

But this is not a solution for the problem of what to do with the spectacular increase of traffic accidents during the Christmas season. The same thing happens during every holiday.

The solution is a stronger sense of responsibility on the part of drivers who endanger their own lives and the lives of others by recklessness.

Not all of them get that way by drinking alcoholic beverages. Most of them get that way by simple failure to think of automobiles as lethal weapons which must be handled more cautiously than loaded guns because they're more dangerous.

Beginning of Wisdom

In the speech which Lady Churchill read for her absent husband when he was awarded the Nobel prize for literature last week, this memorable observation was made:

"The power of man has grown in every sphere except over himself. Never in the field of action have events seemed so harshly to dwarf personalities. Rarely in history have brutal facts so dominated thought or has such widespread, individual virtue found so dim a focus. The fearful question confronts us: Have our problems got beyond our control? Undoubtedly we are passing through a phase where this may be so. Well may we humble ourselves and seek for guidance and mercy."

Sir Winston Churchill has been a dominant figure of his era. His personality has had a powerful impact on people and events in his time. Yet, in the twilight of his years, accepting a prize for his outstanding merit as one of the most articulate men of his time, he confesses in public he does not have the answers.

His candor is commended to those who say they do have them yet have not contributed a fraction as much to human understanding as Sir Winston has contributed.

Freedom To Misinform

By David Lawrence

Inaccuracies Permeate Civil Liberties Report

From one end of the country to the other many American citizens Monday were given a misleading, inaccurate and wholly distorted view of civil liberties by the American Civil Liberties Union, an organization supposedly dedicated to the cause of justice in individual rights.

The right to misinform is, of course, as basic as the right to inform accurately — it all comes under the heading of freedom of speech.

What the Supreme Court of the United States has decided to be the supreme law of the land the the interpretation of the Constitution given by the court is a question of fact supported by recorded decisions.

THE AMERICAN Civil Liberties Union nevertheless says flatly:

"Some legislators claim they have the right and duty to 'expose' — not only illegal acts, and executive or judicial malfeasance and misfeasance, and information pertinent to constitutionally permissible legislation — but anything which they consider dangerous and which other people cannot and will not expose.

"To that claim we must make this same blunt reply: No legislature has any right even to 'expose' anything which is not pertinent to constitutionally permissible legislation, just as the executive and the judiciary have no right to exceed their respective constitutional powers."

No more inaccurate statement of constitutional law has ever been so widely distributed by a national organization. It presupposes that the Constitution is a straitjacket and never can be amended, though the fact is it has been amended twenty-two times since the original charter was written.

Who says there is such a thing as legislation not "constitutionally permissible" so far as original action by Congress is concerned?

CONGRESS CAN at any time consider amendments to the Constitution, and its investigating committees may hold hearings as they have done countless times in the past to determine in what respects the existing constitution may be amended, supplemented or even nullified.

The Twenty - First Amendment repealed and nullified the eighteenth Amendment on Prohibition. Also it was President Franklin D. Roosevelt who advised Congress to go ahead and pass the Guffey coal bill even if in doubt about its constitutionality.

Again and again the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the unlimited right of congressional committees to investigate literally anything — for there is no subject which could not come within the purview of congressional action either by new laws or repeal of old laws, or by new amendments to the Constitution or repeal of existing provisions. The people have it in their power, through Congress, to consider any changes they may wish to put in the Constitution.

A congressional committee cannot, of course, use its subpoena power to compel a witness to bring papers or to reveal facts which he considers within his legal right of privacy, but if disputed, the issue must be determined in a court proceeding.

A MERE CLAIM to immunity is in some cases not adequate to prevent contempt proceedings.

It is a strange thing to hear the American Civil Liberties Union declaring that Congress does not have the right to "expose." It is like saying the congressional committees have no right to speak. For one small piece of testimony can constitute an exposure.

Would the Civil Liberties Union have deprived the American people of the benefit of the exposure of the Teapot Dome scandal by the investigating committee of Sen. Walsh, Democrat, during a Republican administration? Would the American Civil Liberties Union argue that the exposure of Alger Hiss by the House Committee on Un-American Activities was wrong, especially since the statute of limitations had already run and prevented federal prosecution on the basis of available FBI reports? Wasn't it in the interest of protection for the American people to have a witness who swore falsely convicted of perjury and exposed for his moral treason? Or would be the American Civil Liberties Union prohibit congressional committees from getting at the facts where Communists or suspected Communists are involved?

THESE ARE the questions raised by the latest report of the ACLU, which, incidentally, speaks of the refusal of witnesses to answer questions by invoking the Fifth Amendment as having caused only "incidental harm." Only the FBI knows how many traitors have been able to escape punishment for their crimes by invoking the Fifth Amendment, and they have been numerous.

The American Civil Liberties Union has a board of directors on which are several "left wingers" and indeed some who have been leaders in denouncing recent efforts to root out subversives in government.

There are some anti-radicals on the board, but the latest report would seem to classify the American Civil Liberties Union as having gone over to the "left wing" side of the argument.

It is not an impartial or objective report. In listing recent decisions, for example, the report rates as "unfavorable the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States upholding the Smith Act under which the eleven Communists tried by Judge Medina were convicted.

-:-

THE SMITH ACT would penalize those who engage in a conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States by force and violence. Was this "unfavorable" to the people of the United States?

The report, moreover, says that "It is the intolerance of dissent, and the fear to express dissent, which represent the worst damage done by the congressional investigations."

Recent speeches, statements, reports, and resolutions from radical and liberal organizations as well as from the Communist press in this country — printed widely— do not seem to show much fear to express dissent.

Stirring It Up

Six Rungs in U.S. Social Ladder

By Harrison W. Fry

There are six steps in the so-called social ladder in America.

However, the ladder is more an escalator that can carry people down as well as up — for a class in this country is not a caste.

Public education, dedicated to all the children of all the people, is teaching just that today.

In the public schools the fact is frankly faced that while the schools themselves know no distinctions the workaday world outside does make distinctions.

EDUCATION is one of the most important aids in moving upward on the social ladder.

In order to help young people solve the problems of everyday living, Science Research Associates has prepared a study on what they should know about social classes. It is the work of Prof. W. Lloyd Warner, a member of the Committee on Human Development of the University of Chicago, and Mildred Hall Warner.

The six steps on the social ladder in America as they are defined in the study include:

-:-

THE UPPER-UPPER class: The oldest and "best famalies"—those born with position and money. It is about 1 per cent of the population. They often enjoy prestige not because of their own merit but because of the accomplishments of someone of their family generations back.

On the other hand, many help society as a whole — build hospitals, conduct research and help fight crime and disease and use their wealth and prestige in a way no one in any other group could.

The lower-upper class — Its members may have more money than the upper-upper class but they have not held prestige so long as the upper-uppers. They represent about 1½ per cent of the population. They are anxious to be accepted as equals by the upper-uppers.

THE UPPER-MIDDLE class: In the big broad middle class is found the backbone of Democratic society. They own the large stores, are tops in the professions, do not have so much money as the uppers, usually have a part-time maid, send their children to college and are on the way farther up. They are about 10 per cent of the population.

The lower-middle class: The least apt to be stuffy of all is the 28 per cent of American families in this group, made up of skilled workmen, clerks, small shopkeepers and some professionals. The wives sometimes pitch in and take a job when finances get tight. Many such wives worked in offices and stores before marriage.

When they can't afford college educations for their children, the children win scholarships and work their way through college.

They live in neat homes and when possible have a well-kept garden or lawn.

They are hard-working people who place great emphasis upon honesty and decency, seek to give their children advantages they did not have and are the bulwark of the church.

THE UPPER-LOWER class: The semiskilled workefs — he is rapidly disappearing as a greater proportion of the population is becoming skilled — is the poor (comparatively) but honest worker who places great emphasis on a clean, respectable home and bringing up his children to be good hard-working citizens. They usually live in rented houses, are careful in their behavior and struggle hard not to slip down the economic scale.

The lower-lower class: There are about 25 per cent of our population in this class. To them getting ahead or education is not important. A great deal of stress is laid on being tough physically. They do not have enough money for many of the necessities and so there is little saving or planning. With little hope of getting off the bottom rung they often teach their children to stand on their own feet.

NONE OF THESE classes is fixed, the study warns.

A social-class rating won't show whether a family's home life is pleasant. Happiness knows no class distinctions.

The study, prepared principlly for high-school youth, points out: "All useful work contributes to the welfare of society as a whole, and the importance of its contribution cannot be measured in terms of the social prestige it gives.

"People cannot be judged by the kind of work they do. Some lawyers are greedy and dishonest; some are unselfish an idealistic. The same can be said of teachers, plumbers, doctors, laborers, government officials or any other kind of working people."

$5 a Pound

By TRUMAN TWILL

The annual business with the lambs which went to market has been wound up—and this is one annual tribute to the meat people.

Whatever they're charging isn't enough. The meat people can quote us to the next thrifty budget shopper who squawks about the price of lamb chops. She can thank American efficiency for the fact the chops don't cost $5 a pound.

Fortunately, the sheep that live at our house are on a pet basis. There is no farming being done at the Twillery and no agricultural bookkeeping. The boys who collect internal revenue are not put to the trouble of splitting hairs over what expenses are deductible and what ones represent downright folly.

But by the method of freehand calculation, each lamb brought to marketable maturity in the course of a growing season is worth $100 alive and $200 dead. This is because the lamb ceases to produce wool in the latter condition and the U. S. government cannot afford not to subsidize wool production lest it be forced to go to war some day without enough sheep on hand to clothe the fighting men.

Or if the truth is going to be told, the people who make synthetic fibers would be too busy making ammunition to fool around with any of their miraculous brews.

So, while a live animal produces an annual crop, a dead one must be written off in one transaction.

The feed required by a ewe preparing to have a lamb must be considered.

The ewe must be considered since she keeps getting older year by year and finally becomes almost valueless when she is no longer able to bear young.

What the lamb eats must be considered.

The equipment needed to handle him while he is growing into lamb chops must be considered.

The hours of sheepfold cleaning must be considered, and in view of the competency of the head cleaner this consideration alone adds up to $10 an hour.

Transportation used in going to and from in connection with the complex arrangements required for transforming lambs into chops and getting the chops ready for the table must be considered.

The care of the chops pending their appearance on the table with little colored paper panties on the handles must be considered.

Something must be charged to anxiety.

Something must be charged to deterioration of the shepherd while waiting for blessed events, while supervising events when they fail to be blessed, while docking tails etc.

If each item mentioned, plus as many more which might be mentioned, such as grass seed, fencing, blocks of salt and feeding the sheep-shearer on his annual visit were given only nominal value, each dead lamb would be worth a minimum of $200. Since there is no more than 40 pounds of dressed meat to be obtained per animal, that would be a minimum of $5 a pound, including lamburgers.

If it weren't for scenic effects and conversational value, all the Twillery sheep would have to be converted into stew without ado.

If American efficiency can put lamb on the table for anything less than $5 a pound, it can do anything.

No greater hope have we than in right thinking and right acting, and faith in the blessing of fidelity, courage, patience, and grace.—Mary Baker Eddy

An Anachronism in Uniform

By MARK DANA

An interesting yarn of the type the Army just loves to perpetrate wafts over from the German village of Ginsheim, where some American occupation troops were having some maneuvers.

It seems that in the war game, Pvt. Raymond L. Cote, from Saco, Me., was assigned to guard pontoons from "enemy" troops, but his unit departed, forgetting him. He stuck to his post for a week, however, until his unit returned from another deployment — sleeping on the ground, and being fed by friendly German neighbors who were well familiar with the universal tradition that a soldier shall obey orders without question.

The American military services dote on examples like this, and in theory would expect their uniformed personnel to jump off cliffs or chop off their fingers if so directed. In actual practice, of course, blind obedience to orders or living up to the letter of instructions which are silly or obviously resultant from error are outdated.

Today's military men are encouraged to do some thinking for themselves—and as a matter of fact, the Army's soldiers at least (and to some extent Air Force and Navy men) are officially encouraged to brook no discipline or controls.

Old-line Army men sigh over the relatively "easy" life led by today's soldiers, and no doubt will be surprised to learn that a lone private wondered not and questioned not.

Catching Up

Newspaperless New York left us pretty much uninformed and it was nice to catch up and get some idea what had been going on in the city and world once more. . . Mrs. Estelle Auguste had won the Dempsey-Palm Beach Willow Fight for one thing. Had Jack married a wife with 35 million dollars it would have topped even his golden era affiliations with Tex Rickard.

The Manassa Mauler was perhaps the greatest hitter of all time, but the widow beat him to the punch, so far as newspaper publicity was concerned, and Jack seemed to be taking a long count.

Kirk Douglas, Hollywood movie star, got into the set the first day the papers came out again. In the fight form he shows in those Hollywood films he could, as the late Arthur Brisbane might have said, "lick 'em both."

Cupid seemed in good shape and ahead on points when pronounced a loser on a technical kayo.

Panmunjom came back into the news just about where it had left off, and it seemed nice to have missed the news from that quarter. An ex-president of Cuba was charged with buying arms to start a revolution in that country. Due to the strike this was the poorest publicized plot in the history of revolutions.

Sheppard King, the Texas oil heir, got a separation from the Egyptian dancing girl, Samia Gamal, charging that she drank champagne in large quantities and beat him over the noggin with her shoes. This seems relatively mild conduct after any wine party involving more than a quart.

We lost track of the theater, Vishinsky, Igor Gouzenko, Sen. McCarthy, the Gabor sisters, Joe E. Lewis and President Eisenhower's golf score.

-:-

We were suddenly cut off from ex-Premier Mossadegh's program for a series of wrestling bouts with his lawyers and haven't yet found how he came out, or if the lawyer charged for new holds.

Iran and England, it seems, got together and will try to take the rust off the oil tanks.

While we wailed for our daily paper there was a big hassle over pensions for baseball players, with Happy Chandler timing things so his name didn't appear until the papers came out again in the metropolis.

We lost track of Tommy Manville entirely. . .

Milton Berle was married to a girl press agent, which should make the perfect union of viewpoints. . . Milton will promise to cherish in sickness and adverse TV criticisms and the bride will pledge herself to love, honor and not be too harsh with the gag writers.

While without papers, we fell far behind in following the tests of that "drinkometer," a rubber balloon for determining if car drivers are pixilated or just act that way. Thousands of New Yorkers seemed to be staggering around all week but they turned out to be not autoists but newspaper readers who couldn't get their crossword puzzle workouts every day.

The New York thoroughbred racing tracks have retained a lawyer as a legislative consultant. . . His special job will be to watch for hostile legislation. The counsel is a firm believer that a race track is at least entitled to a photo-finish with any legislature. He will search for the daily entries among the new bills proposed, watch the morning workouts of the legislators, note the track conditions, and see that the tracks get the inside dope on which legislator is trying and which one is just in for a workout.

TV observation: All the world's an airwave show and all the people either talent scouts or their discoverers.

3 UAW Locals Approve Pact Ending Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers Union sent its members back to work producing warplanes today at three North American Aviation, Inc. plants after locals ratified an agreement ending a 53-day strike.

The settlement pact, providing a 4 per cent wage increase, was overwhelmingly approved by workers ballots in Los Angeles and Columbus, Ohio, yesterday and in Fresno Monday night

Los Angeles workers assembled to vote yesterday morning but the result was not announced until last night, when UAW officials said 81 per cent balloted for approval.

Local and regional union leaders who addressed the meeting criticized the government for failing to intervene in the strike. John W. Livingston, national UAW vice president and chief of negotiations for the union, said "this proves the government is run lock, stock and barrel by big business."

When UAW leaders first urged the meeting to ratify the agreement they were greeted by chorus-er of "no." Livingston and Cyril O'Halloran, regional CIO drector, characterized the settlement as the best that could be obtained under the circumstances.

North American said the settlement embodied practically the same terms the company offered before some 33,000 UAW members in the three plants walked out on Oct. 23.

These include wage increases ranging from 8 to 20 cents an hour, from a previous pay spread of $1.42 to $2.32 hourly. The union originally demanded a 6-cent hourly boost.

One of the provisions of the North American agreement is that only workers who are members of the union or who voluntarily join it will be required to maintain union membership. Workers who have resigned, non-union employes and persons hired in the future will not be required to join the union.

This constitutes a modification of the UAW's union shop clause in its previous North American contract.

Officials of the Independent Aircraft Workers Assn., formed in Columbus during the latter part of the strike, said yesterday they will continue to recruit members with the aim of replacing the CIO-UAW as bargaining agent for the plant.

Columbus officials say 7,115 of the union's 12,500 members reported to work before settlement of the strike. Some 2,650 bargaining unit members resigned from the union during the walkout, UAW-CIO officials said.

Nine members of Local 927 in Columbus accused of taking part in bombings of property belonging to non-striking company employes were bound to the Franklin County Grand Jury.

They are Robert Weed, 31, Robert White 27, Ernest Cataline, 31, Elmo L. Nothman, 28, Raymond W. Hoskinson, 36, and Robert L. Stuller, 32, all of Columbus and Henry Woltz, 23, and James Rickey 29, both of Lancaster. The ninth man is Bernard E. Angus, 45, of Reynoldsburg.

Charges of malicious destruction of property and illegal possession of explosives had been placed against Weed, Cataline, Bothman, Hoskinson, Stuller and Angus. The others were charged only with illegal possession of explosives.

Bond on each charge was set at $3,000.

North American officials asked all employes to return to work immediately but said no back-to-work schedules would be set up. Union officials said maintenance and powerhouse employes should go back first to prepare the plant for full production.

Company officials had said in the agreement employes who have not returned by Monday will be presumed to have quit. Last night they extended the time limit indefinitely.

More than half of Connecticut's families have a yearly income of $4,000 or more, a U. S. Census Bureau survey indicates.

Plans for the holiday season were made when the Epworth Methodist WSCS met at the church Thursday night. Mrs. Richard Zachman, a native of Hawaii, told of 'Christmas in Japan" as a part of the "Christmas Around the World" theme, assisted by a group of children. Popular music of the season was by the Three Polkadots, boys' instrumental trio, and Jerry Maddox played the accordion. Refreshments were served by the Lucy Webb Hayes Circle.

Mrs. W. D. McGee opened the meeting with a Christmas prayer. Devotions were by Mrs. Kenneth Roberts from the Suzanna Wesley Circle. Discussion was held on a student brunch to be held during the holidays for young people at home from college with Mrs. John Schilling in charge. Mrs. Lavern Pfeiffer displayed silverware boxes to hold new silverware for the church. The society presented Mrs. W. C. Eyster a poinsettia for the parsonage. Articles from the church bazaar were displayed. Clothing for Korea was brought to the meeting.

Mrs. Daisy Healea was assistant hostess when Mrs. Richard Griffith entertained the Dorcas Circle of the Prospect Reformed Church. Mrs. Isaac Bumgartner was program leader. Devotions were by Mrs. Darwin Bell. Mrs. Robert Stuckey read a poem, "The Candle Light," and Mrs. Bumgartner read the Christmas story, "The Perfect Christmas." The program chairman introduced Miss Dorothy Scott, religious education teacher in the schools, who spoke. Mrs. E. T. Henzel read a letter from Rev. and Mrs. Preiss who reside in the Russian zone of Germany. Contest awards were given to Mrs. Donald Pearch and Miss Dorothy Horn.

—:—

The Prospect Lions Club is making plans for the new year. One project is the painting of the interior of the Township House, where the kindergarten is held. At present a membership drive is being held. Harry Waxler and Bob Coffman reported on the Lion zone meeting held in Mt. Gilead recently.

—:—

The Otterbein Ladies Aid of Prospect held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Lee Griffith. A dinner was enjoyed at noon, after which a Christmas party and exchange was enjoyed. Mrs. Ruth Thomas read the Christmas story.

Early-day drinking glasses were made with pointed or rounded bottoms so that they had to be held in the hand until the last of the liquid was consumed.

MR. AND MRS. STEVENS

Couple To Mark 50th Anniversary With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Stevens of 195 Orchard St., who noted their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday, will observe open house for their friends at their home on Christmas Day at 6:30 p.m.

The couple was married in Davisville, O., Jackson County, at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. Pemelton on Dec. 15, 1903.

They are the parents of two sons, Donald, of Newport News, Va., and John C. Stevens of Marion. They have five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mr. Stevens is custodian at the Marion County courthouse.

Edison Students Attend 'Sock Hop'

Edison Junior High School's Student Council sponsored a "Sock Hop" for its students in the school gymnasium Friday night from 7:30 until 10:30.

Sandra Jenkins, social chairman of the Student Council, was in charge of the dance.

The grand march was led by two ninth grade students, Linda Price and Philip Sykes. Various dances were announced by Linda Snyder, Jerry Erwin, John Guthrie, Judy Steele, Grace Mather, Beverly Whittington, John Hathaway, Barbara Hale, Glen Downs and Sandra Jenkins. The refreshment committee was composed of Allen Short, Dennis Gorenflo, Paul Jenkins, Carol Stanley, Bill Collins, Carol Sopher and Dan Thompson. Gary Williams took charge of admissions.

Chaperones for the dance were: Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hochstetter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Truman W. Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. William Wiley, Miss Betty Houser, James E. Frew and Gorge Whitehead.

Faculty advisors for the Student Council are Mrs. Thomas H. Sutherland and Miss Dorothy Caldwell.

Crusade Started Too Late

Wild Office Christmas Parties Tamed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A cry is sweeping the land for the abolition of wild office Christmas parties.

This is indeed a worthy campaign, and I am glad to enlist in the cause. It will be remembered I was among the first to point out last year it was high time we got rid of the growing menace of the bustle and also contributed heavily to a fund to wip out the dinosaur and the sabre-tooth tiger.

And what about the woolly rhinoceros in America? Is nobody going to attack him?

The trouble with our current crusade against the wild office Christmas party is one that afflicts many drives against other forms of sin. By the time we get our dander up about it, we find it already quietly has expired, and the only way we can show our virtue is to go out and kick the tombstone.

It seems to me it's about that way with the annual Christmas office orgy. A recent Sunday magazine article claimed they are getting rowdier each year. But, frankly, I no longer would know where to look to find one, in order to denounce it. And nothing takes the fun out of any campaign against sin like the inability to find it.

Wives and other bosses began toning down office parties some years back. The first thing they did was throw them out of the office and start holding them in restaurants and rented halls.

The year the first wife showed up at an office Christmas party spelled the downfall of its mad revelry. Who wants to play that merry old game, "Let's chase the stenographer around the water cooler," with a wife looking on? That cooled down the office bargain basement satyrs—but quick. Sure ruined Christmas for many a homely stenographer, too.

The average office party today is about as sinful as an Easter egg rolling or an old-fashioned lawn social. It has no more of an antic note than a high school spring prom. Mama leads papa to the frolic like a tame bear on a leash, and his ears echo with her stern ultimatum, "Take one trip too many to that punch bowl, Buster, and home you go."

They search you at the door to be sure you haven't hidden any mistletoe in your pocket. There is a dance band to play civilized music, and the office quartet sings a sedate number from the floor instead of leading college cheers from the top of a desk. As a matter of fact, they don't even have a desk in the joint a fellow can fall from and break a leg, and get a well-deserved rest on full pay.

The other evening, I looked in a restaurant room and saw a group of bank employes wearing paper hats and looking glumly at one another. One oldtimer was crying softly, and I asked him respectfully:

"Is this a memorial service for one of the bank officials?'

"No," he said, as the tears rolled down his cheeks, "this is our annual office Christmas party."

"Don't you hold it in the bank?" I inquired.

"We used to," he said, "until the year one of the fellows began making paper airplanes out of $100 bills and sailing them out a window."

That was what was wrong with the old office Christmas parties—some guy always went just a bit too far, and ruined it for all time. A friend, who formerly enjoyed joining in the annual chase to catch the boss's secretary, said his office had given up parties altogether.

"You mean you finally got common sense?" I asked.

"No," he replied. "The secretary just got so middleaged it no longer was much fun to catch her—even to the boss himself."

Perhaps somewhere there still will be a real rowdy office Christmas party this season, one that looks like the hanging gardens of Babylon swept by a hurricane. If I locate it, I intend to join in the fun for ten full minutes for old times' sake—and then denounce it in the strongest possible terms.

Joyeux Noel has departed from the office, leaving behind it a sign saying "Gone home." And, of course, that's where it belongs.

Russia Making Progress With Naval Buildup

New Cruiser Output Alone Reportedly Tops Total in NATO Yards

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Swift, highly maneuverable cruisers, destroyers, submarines and troop-carrying merchantmen are going into the new fleet Russia is creating for use if she gambles on a conquest of Europe.

Some of her submarines are rated as rivals in underwater speed to the new U. S. atomic models.

Exceeds NATO Buildup

Authorities here estimated today that in cruiser construction alone Soviet building during the last few years has exceeded the total built by the United States and its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

Currently, Russia is believed to have more than 30 cruisers built or building, including an ultramodern, swift, highly maneuverable type designated as the Sverdlov class.

Only one of the class has been seen by the Western world, when it appeared for Britain's coronation ceremonies last summer. Presumably it and others are based at White Sea ports, like Murmansk, toward which the Sverdlov was seen heading after it sailed from England. Cruisers like this are especially useful as raiders against combatant and merchant ships of other nations and in support of amphibious landing operations.

Swift on Maneuvers

The Sverdlov, listed by the Russians as a 12,000 ton ship, but seeming much heavier, maneuvered swiftly and easily as Western naval experts watched it on its visit last summer.

Equipment of the Sverdlov class compares favorably with that of the best American and British combatant craft. Fire control radar equipment for the main armament (apparently about six-inch weapons) and antiaircraft weapons were noted.

Naval men still estimate the size of the Soviet submarine force at about 300 craft, a figure used as far back as 1948. But since then modern craft, presumably including the Type XXVI submersibles designed by Germany' submarine experts, are rapidly replacing the conglomeration of older subs which the Soviets had or inherited by capture at the end of World War II. The Type XXVI is powered by a closed cycle engine which requires no oxygen for combustion, permitting prolonged operation at great depths and high speed. Underwater speed up to 25 knots is probable, a speed which approaches that expected for the United States' atomic - powered subs now being built.

Attack Troop Ships

A major use for Russian submarines would be to attack Allied supply and troop ships bringing help to Europe if the Soviets launched war.

However, on the basis of their own progress in that field, American naval authorities also now reckon with the probability that Russia is building or converting submarines for launching of guided missiles.

The Red fleet has displayed little or no interest in aircraft carriers. But there is believed to exist a sizable naval air arm of land-based aircraft.

Manslaughter

Glenn suffered fractured ribs, and Miss Newell suffered multiple cuts and lacerations of the left leg and body, for whi.h they were treated at the hospital and released.

Attorney for the state was Robert O. Stout, assistant prosecuting attorney. Representing Miss Gallina were William R. Martin and Riley D. Hall of the law firm of Martin and Hall.

THE MANSLAUGHTER affidavit, filed by Patrolman Steven Day of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, charged Miss Gallina with excessive speed, reckless operation, and driving to the left of center.

Day testified that he received the call about the accident at 12:52 p.m. on Nov. 10 and when he arrived at the scene of the accident at 1:08 p.m. he found the badly-demolished car in the field and Miss Gallina lying in the field being given first aid by an ambulance driver. In checking for the license number of the car, Day said he discovered the trunk lid lying some distance from the car.

When he questioned Miss Gallina later that afternoon at the hospital, Day reported she told him she "didn't know for sure" how fast she had been driving.

—:—

ERNEST SWISHER, 50, of Green Camp, an eye-witness of the accident, testified he was driving in the opposite direction to the path of the Gallina car when he saw the car cut across the road, into the ditch, cut down a telephone pole, and then roll over into the field.

He could not establish the speed at which the Gallina car was traveling at the time of the accident.

Miss Newell and Miss Glenn both testified that the girls had asked Miss Gallina "to slow down" during the trip.

WHEN THE state rested its case shortly before 2 p.m., Riley Hall asked the court to advise him if the case would go to the grand jury or be retained in Juvenile Court jurisdiction.

When Judge Ruzzo replied Juvenile Court would assume full responsibility for jurisdiction, Hall made a motion that judgment be made at that time. When Judge Ruzzo overruled the motion and asked Hall to proceed with the case for the defense, Miss Gallina was called to the stand.

Miss Gallina, who said she would be 18 years old in January, told the court she had been driving about six months at the time of the accident, having held a temporary permit from June until October when she received her driver's license.

—:—

MAINTAINING that she did not know how fast she was driving when she reached the curve, she said when she saw the car (Swisher's) approaching around the curve, her "mind went blank and the next thing I knew I was flying through the air." She testified she applied the brake, but that "it didn't hold or something."

When questioned about her passengers cautioning her about her speed, Miss Gallina said, "They didn't tell me to slow down."

Don Davis, an auto repairman who specializes in the repair of speedometers for the police department and patrol, was called to testify for the defense. He reported that at the request of Mr. Martin he clocked the distance and time of the route followed by the girls in their return trip from Richwood to the scene of the accident. He found the distance to be 11 miles and driving approximately 50 miles per hour it took him a little over 13 minutes.

MISS GALLINA had previously testified that she thought they had left Richwood about 12:30. The accident allegedly took place at about 12:45 p.m.

Martin termed Miss Stoner's death "a complete tragedy," but requested the court for leniency in the sentence for Miss Gallina after she was found guilty. Stout, representing the state, said that it was not the purpose of the prosecution to inflict institutionalized punishment.

These expressions were made in answer to Judge Ruzzo's request for the attorneys' recommendations.

Before announcing his ruling, Judge Ruzzo said that " to try to keep similar things from happening is my responsibility."

In making his ruling, the judge stipulated that Miss Gallina attend Pleasant Township School and finish her education this year. She may also attend the church of her choice, and be taken to her doctor three times a week by her parents.

Flight

the National Aircraft Show at Dayton last fall."

Today was "defense day" at the four-day anniversary celebration.

Today's events were planned in part as a rehearsal of the climactic finale scheduled for Thursday, 50 years to the day from the first successful airplane flights of Orville and Wilbur Wright, Dec. 17, 1903.

Some of the scheduled air events for today:

By the Marines—flight demonstrations by 12 FH Banshees and 12 F3D Skyknights and by 16 Sikorsky helicopters, from Cherry Point, N. C.

By the Navy—two blimps from Elizabeth City, N. C. They were assigned to do a "squeeze" a sharp circling maneuver—around the Wright brothers monument on nearby Kill Devil Hill.

Army Section

By the Army—12 Cessna L19s, three Canadian DeHavilland L20 Beavers, three Beech L23s, six Hiller helicopters and a platoon of Piasecki helicopters, all from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

By the Coast Guard—simulated air rescue mission by helicopters from the Elizabeth City Air Station.

By the Air Force—memorial formation by 13 F84 Thunderjets from Turner Air Force Base, Albany, Ga.; formation flying by six Fairchild C119 Flying Boxcars and six Douglas C14 Douglas Globemasters from Donaldson Air Force Base, S. C.; maneuvers by three Northrup F89D Scorpions from Presque Isle, Me., three F86Ds from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and three Lockheed F94Cs from Langley; precision formation flying by the famous thunderbirds team of four Republic F84s from Luke Air Force Base, Glandale, Ariz.

Among the notables here to honor the memory of the Wrights was Russian-born Igor Sikorsky, who first visited Kitty Hawk at the 25th anniversary celebration, Dec. 17, 1928.

Even Legal Troubles Are Bigger in Texas' Courts

EDINBURG, Tex. (UP) — Some days you can't make a nickel—even in back taxes.

Hidalgo County, Tex., found that out when it filed four delinquent tax suits in County Court at Law. The suits were the first filed in that court in some years, and the fact received considerable local publicity.

Then county officials found that one of the defendants actually had paid his taxes two weeks earlier. Another, three years earlier, had sold the property being taxed. Said County Tax Assessor-Collector Bob Lyon:

"We think the other two suits are valid, but we're still checking. In the future, before a tax suit is filed we're going to send a field man out to check on the facts."

POWs

said it was possible other prisoners might also ask to be returned.

Two POW leaders who conferred yesterday with Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya said it made no difference to them that the 90-day period for interviews expires in one week—Dec. 23.

There appeared to be virtually no chance that the Americans and Briton would agree to attend interviews before the deadline. And the U.N Command considered other ways of reaching the prisoners—including Christmas carols broadcast over the compound public address system.

Would Include Appeals

The music would be interspersed with appeals to abandon communism and return home, a spokesman said.

One officer said "a number of things" are under consideration, including a request to the Indian command for permission to send explainers right into the compound.

As hope faded for interviewing the unrepatriated Americans, U.S. envoy Arthur H. Dean left Tokyo for Washington. He told newsmen he was still hopeful that a Korean peace conference can be arranged even though nothing was accomplished in seven weeks of preliminary negotiations.

Dean left his chief assistant, Kenneth Young, to continue the negotiations if the Communists apologize for accusing the United States of conniving with South Korean prisoners last June.

Will Wait Only So Long

Dean broke of the talks as a result of the Communist accusation.

South Korea's President Syngman Rhee told newsmen he would give a peace conference a full 90 days to make progress toward unifying Korea before taking independent action. But Rhee emphasized that he would wait only a "certain time" for the conference to get under way.

Gen. Thimayya, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, reiterated today that Indian troops will free unrepatriated Americans, British, Korean and Chinese prisoners or turn them back to their captors Jan. 22.

The Indian command issued an official statement quoting Thimayya as saying:

"Unless the two commmands agree to allow him to have further custody of prisoners beyond Jan. 22 he would have no alternative but to release them or return them to the former detaining side."

If the Indians should turn prisoners back to their captors, Allied officials said, 22,300 anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans would be promptly freed.

U.N. Renews Request

The U.N. Command today renewed its request for interviews with "any number" of the 77 South Koreans, 22 Americans and 1 Briton still to meet Allied explainers.

The Communists asked to talk with 25 anti-Communist Koreans in Compound G3 of the South Camp—the same prisoners the Reds have asked for repeatedly after interviewing about half of the men from the compound.

The Indians told both commands that their request was denied because the prisoners refused to attend.

Governor Was Good Mixer

Ex-Statehouse Reporter Recalls Days With White

(Editors: H. H. Daugherty, retired veteran Associated Press reporter, covered the Ohio Statehouse for more than 30 years. Among those with whom he rubbed shoulders was George White, former governor, who died last night in Florida. In the following sketch Daugherty gives some interesting sidelights on one of the state's most colorful public figures.)

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When George White took his seat behind the desk in Ohio's chief executive office, he held onto all those characteristics acquired while rubbing elbows with the oil drillers in Pennsylvania the "sour-doughs" of the Klondike, and the statesmen and diplomats of Washington. He could meet and mix with them all.

There was no assumed air of stately importance when one met Gov. White. He just met George White, who would rather listen to what you had to say than to have you listen to him, except that he was most likely to start you off with a story. He loved a good story and often a three-minute interview with him in the executive office was stretched into half an hour.

Pomp was never encouraged by him. His favorite posture when conferring on matters of business was a crouched position in his arm chair tilted far back, a stogy in his mouth, his face dropped forward while peering out of the corner of his eyes, a listening position. Most likely when it was his time to answer, he would straighten up in his chair or stand erect and give his reply in a short courteous statement.

To many, White was somewhat of a fatalist. He refused to consider a mole-hill a mountain and believed a lot in just plain everyday luck. It was only luck that brought him back from the Klondike with a goodly "strike," he insisted. Others who toiled much harder than he came back empty handed or perished in the Arctic cold.

Governor White was a good judge of character. He could strip the veneer and judge the man for what he really was in short order, consequently it was difficult to "put one over on him," though the person attempting it might leave with the impression he had succeeded. Sometimes, however, the executive would insist on calling a spade a spade.

Before starting for the Klondike, Gov. White had sold newspapers and clerked in stores at Titusville, Pa., graduated from Princeton University through his own efforts and some help from his father, taught school and studied law, and worked in the Pennsylvania oil fields. For two years he hunted gold, found considerable, and returned to the states in 1900 to marry and settle down in Woodsfield, Ohio. He invested his Klondike gold in oil wells in Southeastern Ohio and prospered, becoming one of the most prominent independent oil producers in the state.

Much of his philosophy of life, government and business was acquired under the direction of Woodrow Wilson at Princeton. Later, when Wilson was President, White was a member of Congress and took great interest in aiding his old teacher in enacting his legislative programs. Once, he had to clash with the President, however, over an Alaskan railroad bill, and maintained his opposition to the president's views to the last.

One of the White's chief characteristics was to respect the other fellow's views regardless of how different they are from his. This fact enabled him always to keep on good terms with a state Legislature of opposite politics. He gave and took in good humor. When it became necessary to call two special sessions of the Legislature to enact various relief measures, the law makers responded readily and enacted his relief program without hesitation.

Killers

But the killers have shown no apparent concern about the missing ransom or about their deaths, although Hall has asked an Episcopalian minister, the Rev. George L. Evans of Kansas City, Kan., to stay with him "until the very end."

Reads Westerns

Hall has been reading Wild West magazines. Mrs. Heady has kept busy with crossword puzzles in newspapers. Neither has shown any interest in hundreds of pounds of mail sent to them but detoured by prison authorities at their request.

Both have reportedly gained weight since entering their death row cells Nov. 20, the day after they were convicted by a federal court jury in an advisory trial.

Hall has said he thought he had gained about 20 pounds. Mrs Heady has put on about five pounds. Their faces are full, free of wrinkles, and Mrs. Heady has even joked about the roll of fat she was told Hall has acquired around his midriff.

Neither has had any exercise walking into the narrow confinement of their solitary cells, where they can neither see nor talk with one another. Their only contact is with the prison guards stationed just outside the cells and with occasional, carefully screened visitors.

The only visitors, outside of prison and law enforcement officials, have been their attorneys, ministers and Mrs. Hall's aunt, Mrs. Nellie Baker of Chicago.

Children Give Program For PTA at Oakland

Children of the first three grades at Oakland School presented the program for a recent meeting of the Oakland PTA at the school. Business was in charge of Herman Rinehart, and devotions were by Mrs. Harvey Woy who read the Christmas story from Luke. Leroy Everly reported on an insurance plan for pupils and teachers. The program was in charge of Mrs. Darrell Vermillion

Teachers directing the program included Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Sarah Jones, Mrs. Mary Orcutt, Mrs. Ruth Keeran, Miss Helen Morgan, Mrs. Mae Kinney, and Miss Adda Ulsh. Songs, pantomimes and plays for the Christmas season were presented. Attendance awards went to the classes taught by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Keeran for the lower grades, and by Mrs. Kathryn Moore for the upper grades.

TAKES THE CAKE. South Dakota housewife Mrs. Bernard Kanago proudly displays the cake which won her the $25,000 first prize money in a contest in New York. Her cake, called "My Inspiration," was made of nuts, white cake batter and grated chocolate. It beat out the efforts of 78 other women and one man.

Indian Has Own Ideas About Indian Summers

TONAWANDA, N. Y. (UP)—Approached on a warm October day and asked when "Indian Summer" occurs, Jonas Greene, an octogenarian member of the Tuscaroras, gave two answers:

"Indian Summer is what we call the Summer of the bent grass. When I was a boy, the old folks used to say that the frost had to be hard enough and heavy enough to bend the tall dry grasses of the meadows to the ground. The warm times after that bending of the grass they called Indian Summer.

"I refer to Indian Summer as the time God gave his Indian children as a last chance to do the things they should have been doing during the real summer."

Truckers Involved In Area Accidents

Two accidents in Morrow County involving auto-carrier outfits owned by the same company and two Cincinnati drivers were reported today by state patrolmen from the Marion post. The accidents happened within one-tenth of a mile and 15 minutes of each other early Tuesday morning. Both outfits were owned by the Anchor Motor Freight Co. of Norwood.

The first accident happened at 4:45 a.m. Patrol reports show the driver of the outfit was Kenneth J. Works, 26, of Cincinnati, who was southbound on State Route 61, three and one-tenth miles south of Mt. Gilead.

Patrolmen investigating the accident report his outfit, which was not loaded jackknifed, failed to make a curve in the road, and went into a ditch.

Extensive damage was done to the tractor and cab, but only minor damage was done to the trailer.

At 5 a.m., three miles south of Mt. Gilead, on State Route 61, the second auto carrier outfit received minor damage when sideswiped by a car. Driver of the outfit was Harold R. Meyers, 33, also of Cincinnati.

Patrol reports show the truck was stopped on the highway as he headed south and was struck by a car driven by Benny Jackson of Cleveland. Jackson was reported to have stopped, given his name to Meyers, and continued on his way, reportedly to Columbus.

Minor damage was done to left front fender, bumper, and door of the cab on the truck. Patrolmen have no report on the damage done to Jackson's car. They are still trying to locate the man to complete their report.

COAT GLOWS FOR SAFETY

NEW YORK (UP) — One rainwear manufacturer is out with a raincoat which should make children easily visible to motorists on dark, rainy days. The coat back has a built-in red reflector. The reflector is wired to a standard flash light batter fitted into the coat pocket, along with a switch for turning it on. Charge of the battery is low, the manufacturer said, so there is no danger of shock if it becomes shorted. (L. S. Ayers and Co. Indianapolis).

In colonial times 85 per cent of the U. S. population lived and worked on farms.

Free Enterprise With Controls

Ike Faced With Farm Prices Paradox

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, a firm believer in free enterprise, said in the 1952 campaign he was convinced farmers would rather earn their fair share than have it as a government handout.

So when Secretary of Agriculture Benson later preached less government control and more self-reliance for farmers he was being consistent with President Eisenhower's views and his own too.

Yesterday the cotton and peanut farmers were asked to vote, in effect, on this question: Do you want to be unrestricted and on your own or do you want the government to bail you out if you get in a jam, provided you accept government controls?

They voted overwhelmingly for government controls and help if open market prices fall too low, just as the wheat farmers did last Aug. 14 when asked the same question.

In previous referendums farmers have always approved controls. Early today the figures available on the cotton farmers' vote showed about 94 per cent of them for controls, a new record. When they last voted in December, 1949, 89.4 per cent of them were for controls.

The votes yesterday and last summer provide a background for the kind of farm program Eisenhower will offer Congress next year and which, no doubt, he will discuss with his Republican congressional leaders in a three-day White House conference, starting tomorrow.

The explanation of what happened goes back to 1938. Congress passed the Agriculture Adjustment Act, which had two purposes:

1. To protect the producers of certain basic crops — including wheat, cotton and peanuts—in case open market prices dropped too much because they produced too much or for other reasons.

2. To try to prevent overproduction in the first place.

How could the government protect the farmer's income? First the government had to decide on a parity price: that is a price which the government considered necessary for the farmer to get a fair return on what he sold in relation to the price of things he had to buy.

This parity price was a theoretical figure. Wheat, for instance, might be selling on the open market for $1.50 a bushel. The government might decide that $1 would be enough to keep a farmer abreast of the price of things he bought.

Then, having decided $1 was the parity price, the government would guarantee him protection—not up to the full parity price of $1—but to 90 per cent of parity.

Therefore, if the open market price on wheat dropped and the farmer couldn't sell his wheat for as much as the governments 90 per cent of parity, he could let his wheat go to the government at 90 per cent of parity, which is called the support price.

But this arrangement had some strings attached.

If prices fell because of overproduction, farmers would be selling so much wheat to the government its warehouses would be loaded to bursting.

So, to discourage overproduction, a farmer who wanted support prices for his crop had to agree that the government would tell him how many acres he could plant, and control his marketing.

Yesterday's referendum among the cotton and peanut farmers of the nation came down to this:

A vote for control meant a vote in favor of limiting production to a specific number of acres and sale sto a corresponding quota in return for high support prices—90 per cent of parity—on the crop from those acres.

A vote against controls meant a vote for unlimited production but low support prices—at 50 per cent of parity.

They chose the controls which meant protection for their income.

The Eisenhower-Benson program for Congress may be an extension of the present system, a change to more flexible support prices, or perhaps some kind of support for crops sold in this country while letting crops sold overseas find their own prices.

Whatever the new program, it will affect the future of the Republican party.

Prisoners Lock Sheriff In Cell, Gain Freedom

BUENA VISTA, Ga. (AP)—Three Negro prisoners, including one 75 years old, overpowered Sheriff W. E. Henson last night, locked him in a cell, took his gun and keys, and fled on foot.

C. C. Henson, the sheriff's son, had to use a blow torch and a chisel to free his father from the cell. The sheriff was uninjured.

The jail break occurred as Henson was taking supper to his prisoners.

OSU Professor Gives Address For Navy Club

Speaker Describes Pearl Harbor, Warns Of Russian Attack

Captain Lester M. Merritt of the Columbus Naval Air Depot, and professor of engineering at Ohio State University, was guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Navy Club and Auxiliary Monday evening at the Navy Club.

He gave an eye-witness account of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, saying the Japanese intelligence was almost perfect except for one newly-arrived ship which was not bombed.

Capt. Merritt said one of the big mistakes the Japanese made was in bombing only those targets which had been marked in advance. He said the Japanese fleet had left its home base Nov. 26, with complete orders, and the world was unaware of the pending attack. Amercian officials expected war with Japan, but not until the following April at the earliest.

He warned Russia could carry out similar surprise attack. He said the attack could be made by coming over the North Pole and down into the midwest section of the country. He said bases in the Arctic have been established, and on it are planes equipped for colder temperatures.

Many German scientists are being kept in Russia and forced to work for that country through threats to their families, he said.

Another possible attack by the Russians was described by the captain. He said submarines could attack coastal cities with atomic guided missiles.

Trained sabotage agents are planted in vital communities, and many of those key cities are in Ohio, he added.

In concluding, Capt. Merritt said the country is prepared because of the awareness of the nation to the danger of the possibility of attack. He said there must be several plans carried out.

Among those are closer harmony between the different branches of the armed forces, improved intelligence, anti-aircraft defense in the cities, and modern coastal defense.

A Christmas exchange and party followed the address.

HERE IS A VIEW of the Rockefeller Center Christmas tree, a 75-foot spruce, after thousands of New Yorkers witnessed the lighting of its 6,500 blinking lights. In the foreground are flickering bulbs to simulate candlelight set into 300 giant red and white tapers.

NO INTEREST?

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP)—Corporation Court has received a tattered traffic summons and a check for $20 from Germany. Cpl. Abel Ramos, now in the Air Force, mailed the three-year-old speeding summons and wrote: "I would appreciate tremendously if I were permitted to make the necessary payment at this time." Said a court clerk, "He'll be allowed to pay the fine, but for only $10." The remaining $10 was returned.

Director Shifts Liquor Agents

Transfers Involve 81 In State Department

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Liquor Director Anthony A. Rutkowski today announced a periodic shift of assignments of liquor department enforcement officers effective Jan. 2.

The transfers affect two area supervisors, eight investigators-in-charge and 71 investigators.

In announcing the transfers, Rutkowski said they were made "with the view of constantly improving and strengthening the strong law enforcement policies which have characterized the administration during the past five years."

He declared "commercialized gambling, bootlegging and other liquor law violations will continue to receive the vigorous and effective attention of the Department.

Thursday Program Open to Public

Christmas Observance Set by Knights Templar

The annual Christmas Observance of Marion Commandery No. 36, Knights Templar will be held at the Masonic Temple Thursday at 8 p.m. The service is open to the public. Winthrop P. Ames, Eminent Commander of Marion Commandery, will preside during the program.

The program will open with a piano prelude by Mrs. Eve Hunter, following which the officers and members of the drill team wearing their Commandery uniforms will make their entrance.

Mr. Ames will give the address of welcome and the invocation will be given by Harry C. Williams, the prelate of the Commandery. He will also read the Christmas Story as given in the second chapter of St. Luke. During the program Mrs. Dorothy Gail Weiser will sing three selections with Mrs. Hunter as accompanist.

Toasts will be proposed and drunk by the Sir Knights to those members of the order whom they honor at this time of the year and to the memory of the following members who have died during the past year: J. Craig Bowman, Herman P. Engler, Frank K. Morral, George Albert Ruth, John W. Caldwell, Charles A. Michael, and Charles A. Mullenix. Following the drinking of the toasts the story of "The Other Wise Man" will be told by Rev. Chester Evans of Upper Sandusky. Rev. Evans served the Masonic Grand Lodge of Ohio as Grand Chaplain during the past year.

A short talk explaining the purposes of the Christmas Observance will be given by Harvey T. Gracely, a past commander of the local commandery.

A program of Christmas songs will then be sung by the members of Harding High School A cappella Choir under the direction of L. G. Jones.

Refreshments will be served following the closing of the program.

Church Open in Evening For Christmas Services

Inviting the passerby to pause during the rush of the season in consideration of the true meaning of the Christmas holiday, the doors of St. Paul's Episcopal Church are to be open two hours each night this week and next week.

Candlelight and organ music will provide the atmosphere in which shoppers, those coming late from work, and others may find opportunity for rest and meditation. The hours are 7 o'clock until 9.

This is the first year for such an arrangement during the Yule period. A number of persons stopped in at the church on Monday night, the rector, Rev. Frederick W. Leech, stated.

The European starlings which were first introduced into New York City in 1890 have spread to the Rocky mountains and a few scattered places beyond, to Mexico and to Canada as far north as Hudson Bay.

Many Motives Forcing Accident-Prone Drivers

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP) — The motorist who gets himself involved in traffic accidents may be motivated by an obscure wish to hurt himself, an inferiority complex or just plain cussedness.

The Better Traffic Committee of Pittsburgh, after a study of the psychology of accident - prone drivers, found that selfishness, self-importance, guilt feelings or the desire to "live dangerously" also may lurk behind traffic mishaps.

Unconscious self - destruction, a phenomenon well-known to psychologists, is sometimes a factor in accidents, the committee said. So are the selfish—or "me first"—attitude and the self-important feeling that the laws were made for somebody else. The driver with a sense of inferiority doesn't want to be "pushed around" by the law.

Some motorists suffer from a generalized, unfocused hostility, the committee said, which they like to turn against others on the road. And there are drivers whose consciousness of guilt drives them to create situations which the blame can be placed on someone else.

The proportion of the U.S. population of the United States over 65 years of age has doubled since 1900 to about 8 1/5 per cent of the population.

MOTORIST ARRESTED

One motorist was arrested Tuesday night by state patrolmen from the Marion post. James A. Carwile, 25, of Columbus, was fined $15 and costs by Mayor M. F. Pinney of Delaware. He was arrested and charged with excessive speed on U. S. Route 23 at 9 p.m.

CRESTLINE SCHOOLS RECESS

CRESTLINE — Christmas vacation at Crestline public schools will begin at 11:30 a.m. Friday. Short classes will be held in school with a Christmas assembly planned for the high school by the student council. Studies will be resumed Monday morning, Jan. 4.

Stinginess

By George Sokolsky

Ours is a profligate government which pours money into futilities all over the world, but when it comes to those of our own officials whose very office requires dignity of manner, we become absurdly stingy. I refer to Public Law 222, which covers the traveling expenses of fereral justices and judges, including the brethren of the Supreme Court, even the chief justice of the United States.

SOKOLSKY

The grant for maintenance expenses actually incurred is $15 a day. I travel widely and constantly and cannot do it on $15 a day, unless I stay at a flophouse or a tenth-rate hotel.

—:—

THE LOWEST rate for hotel rooms that I have found in large cities is $6 a day; a really respectable room, where it is possible to receive a guest without sitting on a bed, in the same cities, runs between $10 and $12. I have not inquired whether special rates are made for government officials.

Certainly little remains for food, pressing clothes after traveling, tips, telephone calls, and other incidentals.

It is amusing that the same Congress enacted a law creating a commission to study judicial salaries and gives to the members of this Commission $25 per day in lieu of subsistence. Why does it cost a member of this commission more for expanes than the chief justice of the United States or even a circuit judge?

-:-

IT HAS BECOME a practice to shift federal judges from their home bases to other cities, often quite distant, to hear cases. Such a judge may be required to be away from home for a long stretch and should, if he so desires, have the advantage of the comfort of his wife.

He should not be cooped up in a small room in a lonely hotel to read briefs under the unsatisfactory environmental conditions. His position and services warrant not only a social dignity but satisfactory physical conditions.

He should be able to meet men similarly well placed on a basis of equality.

It cannot be done on $15 a day, nor does the salary-scale of judges warrant expenditures out of their own pockets.

-:-

UNDER THE present penurious practices, judges must either be chosen from among those who have inherited wealth, or who, having accumulated savings in private practice, seek high honors, or among lawyers who are always in debt, borrowing to maintain a position but never being able to repay.

The tiny estate of Chief Justice Fred Vinson was surely not an incentive to a young lawyer who hopes to make a career of the judiciary.

—:—

THE COMMISSION investigating the subject is required to study, among others, the following:

"The compensation or income currently earned by persons of comparable qualifications in labor, business, the professions, or other private pursuits;

"The sacrifices involved in the acceptance of appointment to the federal judiciary or of membership in the Congress, including in the case of members of the federal judiciary the interruption of private practice at the time when it is most remunerative, and the necessity for divorcing oneself from outside activities which are productive of income. . .

"The interruptions to normal family life, resulting in the case of many members of the Federal judiciary from the necessity of holding court at points remote from their residences. . ."

IN CONNECTION with compensation of persons of comparable qualifications, the commission might look into the expense accounts of businessmen and labor leaders. They are sometimes more valuable than salaries.

No officials of our government are more important than our judges, particularly those of the federal courts. Upon them truly depend our "LIFE, LIBERTY AND PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS."

It used to be that while criticism of municipal and state judges was not unusual, the federal judiciary was regarded as sacrosanct. That is not true today.

-:-

CERTAINLY since 1936, many men have been appointed to the federal bench who do not belong there, either by training or temperament.

Even some of the brethren of the Supreme Court have come in for criticism, the appointments being shockingly political for such a high office.

Only the most competent and character-proved men in America should sit on the Supreme Court of the United States.

Our judges should be adequately paid; their expense accounts should be in consonance with their positions. If there is no money available for that, why not apply to Point Four for aid?

Rough on Mob

By Victor Riesel

Were I writing this one for the movies, all the major studios, pooling all their Jim Cagneys, Edward G. Robinsons and George Rafts, could not cast it as it rolls in real life on the dark streets of our big cities.

RIESEL

The mob is fighting back. Fenced in by at least three federal grand juries, one state investigation, one county probe, one congressional search and heavy pressure for goon hunts in four other states, the crime syndicate which has made some unions part of their racket is slugging back.

On the New York waterfront, big black cars glide up to AFL men, slug them and leave them fractured in the gutter. Nine of these men are now in the hospital.

IN RECENT garbage strike, a knife and blackjack squad in a fast car swooped down on other workers.

There have been more battles, but the most significant violence came with the 12-gauge shotgun blast which sent Harry G. Hale, a former St. Louis Steamfitters Union Local 562 business agent, right out of this world, along with the knowledge he had of the union's welfare fund of which he was once director.

Brother Hale departed suddenly this society while standing in the doorway of his St. Louis garage a few weeks ago. The police for some reason began searching for an old Capone hand by the name of Rollo "Blackie" Dean who was on the local's payroll for a while, with little to do but draw his check.

Rollo apparently drew enough to get himself a new home, but some mean fellow blasted it full of shotgun holes shortly after Hale's death.

THIS THING could get real rough after a while—and the federals want to take a good look at it all, including the welfare fund, which is causing such commotion.

So two grand juries are being impaneled there for action this week. More indictments safely can be predicted. At the same time the St. Louis civic leaders are trying to get the FBI and the Treasury probers and accountants to go across the river into Southern Illinois, where shooting is expected especially in and around the unions which control atomic energy installation labor.

There is more pressure on the government for an examination of Chicago—and you can count on some of the House Labor Committee congressmen to get up and shout for it immediately after Congress reconvenes—unless the political pressure is too great.

A HOUSE LABOR sub-committee, incidentally, will soon head for Minneapolis under the chairmanship of Rep. Wint Smith (R-Kans), a man who just doesn't like to get pushed around.

Meanwhile, out Detroit way, a Wayne County labor rackets grand jury has been extended for six months. And the U. S. attorney there, Fred W. Kaess, is just about ready to summon witneses before a federal grand jury in Detroit.

Most of these hearings will pivot upon the vast welfare funds which bring some union officials terrifically profitable commissions from controlled agencies which, in turn, place them with the major companies.

So lush a touch has this become that some of the most powerful operators in the rackets have told their people to forget the petty stuff, keep their unions clean, but get the welfare fund business.

Some of them certainly succeeded, and many an honest union chief has angrily pointed out that this is made easy because of the difficulty unions have in placing their insurance directly with the insurance companies.

Apparently they all must place their business through agents. Of course, it should be pointed out here that there are scores of clean insurance agents—but there are those who aren't.

They have been kicking back literally millions of dollars to those who control the unions under suspicion.

-:-

MOST OF THIS will be spotlighted by special New York State investigators who will hold hearings before and after Christmas. It is reported that some of these funds have "lost" as much as forty cents on the dollar.

It should also be pointed out that AFL president George Meany, undoubtedly wearied and harassed by the exposures of a network he inherited, will continue to move although he already has spent much of the past year fighting a many-fronted war on the interlocking crowd.

Some of us asked Meany the other day just what he would do. He looked squarely at us and said, "We can match their muscle with muscle and we'll take a good look at those welfare funds as soon as anything is exposed.

It's a tough fight for a man who's been president of a 10,000,000 member outfit less than a year.

But Meany can be tough, too. And it sure looks like he means to be.

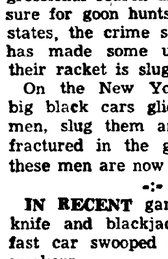
Entitled to Aid

By Laura Hobson

Here's a story I just happened into that comes from South Dakota but sounds as if it were straight out of the 19th century.



HOBSON

Out on the little Missouri River at Camp Crook, there lives a farmer named Louis S. Oliver who became so desperate over his children's schooling and their safety in getting it, that he finally wrote all the way to New York for advice and help.

The Olivers are poor. "We have no income," Mr. Oliver wrote, "but four cows and their cream check. I own no motive equipment or horses, and we are snowbound quite some time every year."

-:-

THEIR FARM, or ranch as he calls it, is on the west bank of the river in Harding County, and his three young children, aged 11, 8, and 7, are assigned to a school on the east side.

"The nearest bridge is some twenty miles away," he said, "and no commerce of any kind is held over this stream."

Which means, I take it, no ferries or regulaly scheduled boats. The river can be forded sometimes, but in winter, what with "foam ice and holes," Mr. Oliver is in daily fear for his children's lives.

"I have requested a cable tramway," he went on, "or tuition and transportation to a school on our side, and endeavored to board my children out, only to be refused. . . I believe my children are entitled to their home and that I do not have to endanger their health and life to cross the river."

:-

ALL HIS local appeals, he states, got him nowhere and the more burned up he became, the more sure he was "that the rive is a natural barrier at all times, and. . . we have no school service under our school system."

He next tried to put his case up to the circuit court, only to be told the court calendar was too jammed up for any quick action. That did it.

With another winter already begun, Mr. Oliver finally decided he was getting the old run-around from school system and local courts alike, and on Dec. 1, he sent off a letter to ask help from the American Civil Liberties Union, nearly 1,600 miles beyond the east bank of the little Missouri.

-:-

THAT'S HOW I happened to hear about this strange story—because an ACLU lawyer in New York phoned me about it. That's also how it comes about that on my desk is a letter from a South Dakota father I've never seen, about three kids I've never seen.

From this distance, of course, it's not for the lawyers of the ACLU—and certainly not for me—to take an absentee position about building cable tramways, or reassigning children to another school, or anything else that calls for on-the-spot knowledge of both sides of the situation.

But Mr Oliver's "complaint that he has not been able to obtain court review" was what made Clifford Forster, special counsel to the American Civil Liberties Union, decide that a civil liberty issue might be involved.

HAVING so decided, Mr. Forster wrote out to the governor's mansion at Pierre, S.D., asking the Hon. Sigurd R. Anderson whether a full inquiry might be made.

"We are merely concerned," says the letter to Gov. Anderson, "that this citizen obtain his day in court. Surely due process is grossly violated when the humblest and poorest of our citizenry cannot be heard because the established courts' calendars are overcrowded or state officials turn them down without a full and adequate explanation."

A copy of this letter also went out last week to the Oliver Place, and unless the river and roads stymie the U. S. mail too badly, maybe the parents of the three Oliver kids already feel less alone with their problem.

Sen. Douglas Feels His $2.50 Rule Safe On Accepting Gifts

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) says he has adopted "a $2.50 rule" concerning gifts sent to him.

"It is suicide for elected officials to reject all gifts," Douglas told the Junior Assn. of Commerce and Industry yesterday. "People would think you were weaned on a pickle and lack the human juices, so I have a $2.50 rule."

Douglas said any gift that appears to be worth more than $2.50 is sent back. The others, he said, generally are sent to the Walter Reed (Army) or Bethesda (Navy) hospitals.

"I will admit that occasionally I will take home a few Florida grapefruit or something of the sort," Douglas said. "Thus far, this has kept me out of trouble. I don't think there is much chance of a senator being corrupted by $2.50."

New Undersecretary Of Army Is Appointed

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Slezak of Chicago has been named to succeed Earl D. Johnson as undersecretary of the Army Jan. 25.

The White House announced yesterday that Johnson, the Army's No.2 civilian since just before the Korean War, is resigning to become president of the Air Transport Assn.

Slezak, 57, is now an assistant secretary of the Army on leave as president of the Turner Brass Works, Sycamore, Ill. A native of Czechoslovakia, he became an American citizen in 1916.

Cotton, Peanut Farmers Vote For Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers who grow the country's cotton and peanut crops left no doubt today that they want production and marketing controls—and continued high support prices—for those crops.

They voted overwhelmingly yesterday to approve the control proposals advanced by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

In this they followed the lead of the wheat farmers who, last August, voted for controls by a 7-1 margin.

Cotton farmers in 20 states turned out about 500,000 strong and voted nearly 16 to 1 in favor of limiting production of the 1954 cotton crops. The percentage of "yes" votes was about 94 per cent—a new record—compared with 89.4 per cent in December, 1949, the last time cotton controls were voted in a referendum. The unofficial but nearly complete vote was about 447,000 yes to 29,000 no.

Peanut growers in 13 states voted about 17 to 1 for controls on peanut production for the next three years—1954 through 1956. The unofficial but nearly complete vote showed more than 61,000 farmers voted for peanut controls to 3,600 against. This was a "yes" percentage of 94 per cent, compared with 70.8 in the referendum three years ago.

Control proposals must be approved by a two-thirds majority in order to become effective.

By approving controls growers are assured that the government next year will continue to support those crops at 90 per cent of parity. Had the farmers rejected the controls the support price would have dropped to 50 per cent of parity. Once marketing quotas are voted, excess sales subject the seller to a penalty of 50 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Impersonated Priest

Professional Fundraiser Admits Unethical Tactics

NEW YORK (AP)—A professional fundraiser has told New York legislative investigators that he sometimes impersonated a priest or a police representative in soliciting by telephone.

The solicitor, George Bieler, chuckled as he bared some of his methods under prodding at a joint Senate-Assembly committee hearing.

'Boiler Rooms'

The committee, which continues its public hearings today, heard witnesses testify yesterday about their "boiler rooms'—batteries of telephone solicitors—with the promoters reaping much of the harvest.

The probers also were told that the names of prominent people had been used without their sanction in fund solicitations.

Committee Counsel Sidney Paymer said examples of this are U.S. Senators Herbert H. Lehman (D-N) and Irving M. Ives (R-NY) and New York Mayor-elect Robert F. Wagner Jr.

The committee is investigating legitimate charity fund-raising activities, as well as rackets, with a view to proposing legislation.

Bieler admitted to the committee yesterday that he had been convicted and fined $250 in 1951 for soliciting funds without a license for the Bronx chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

Got Up to 60 Per Cent

The witness said he sometimes got as much as 60 per cent of the collections in various fund solicitations.

Paymer asked Bieler how he approached prospects on the telephone in asking donations for Sts. Peter and Paul Church House in Manhattan.

"I told them I was a priest calling," the witness replied.

The witness was asked: "Did you say you were Father Clement?" The reference was to Archbishop Clement Sherwood, head of the American Holy Orthodox Catholic Apostolic Eastern Church, an independent sect of which the church house is the chancery.

"Oh, no," Bieler replied. "I just said I was Father Alexander."

Employed Fundraisers

Archbishop Clement told a newsman last night his church had employed fundraisers on a commission basis for a brief period, his work has been done by volunteers.

Bieler told the probe committee but that for the past few years he had solicited advertising over the telephone for the Superior Police Officers News, a publication of the New Jersey Superior Police Officers Assn.

The witness said he told prospects: "I am speaking for Lt. Michael Hanley of the association."

Vernon School Students Give Christmas Operetta

A Christmas operetta was presented by pupils of the first three grades of Vernon Grade School for a meeting of the school PTA Tuesday night.

The operetta was in two parts, "The Toys That Had To Wait" and "Christmas Tableau," with Diane Retterer and Robert Shackelford portraying Mary and Joseph. Carols were sung by the second and third grades and the audience joined in to sing "Silent Night."

Teachers of the three grades are Miss Ruth Edwards and Mrs. Jean Maloney, first grades, Miss Janet Geddis and Mrs. Dorothy Key, second grades, and Mrs. Audrey Morgan and Miss Caryl Leeka, third grades.

Father Who Held His Sons Hostage Will Be Charged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charles McLaughlin, 28-year-old paper company employe who used two of his young sons as hostages to defy sheriff's deputies for 16 hours Monday night, will be arraigned at nearby Obetz on charges of assault and battery, shooting to kill and shooting to wound.

McLaughlin, trying to keep from being arrested on an assault charge brought by his wife, Helen, 27, locked himself in his trailer with Charles, 7, and Ronald, 6. He threatened their lives as deputies attacked. He was finally subdued by tear gas. Later, he said he had been "bluffing" and "never would hurt the boys."

The arraignment will be later this week. The day has not been set.

REMINDER TO SANTA

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Police here don't want children favored by Santa Claus with a new bicycle to run afoul of the law. So Patrolman Frank Mayer asked parents to remind Santa to supply a license with each new bike. The 25 cent licenses are required before the vehicles may be used.

In 1830 it took 3½ hours of human labor to produce a bushel of wheat, but by 1896 the time had been reduced to 10 minutes.

WHEN we say ours is an "exclusive" ambulance, what does the word mean? Well, it means that OUR ambulance was designed and built to serve as an ambulance; it is NOT a so-called "combination job", used as a hearse and then, perhaps only a few minutes later, as an ambulance. If you would prefer the services of an EXCLUSIVE ambulance, be sure that the ambulance you select IS an exclusive ambulance.

Damage Claim Settled After Hearing Opens

A $16,000 damage suit filed by a Prospect couple against the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Marion was settled by counsel after a civil trial in Common Pleas Court Tuesday was under way several hours.

Thomas Hughes and Beulah V Hughes of Prospect filed the suit in March of this year for damages they alleged were caused when the utility company discontinued gas service to their residence in Prospect on Oct. 14, 1950, and for damage caused to their property later, in May of 1951, when the company removed a gas pipe.

Judge Wolfe has the responsibil- the jurors after the settlement was reached following a noon recess for lunch. Seated on the jury were Orville T. Decker, Florence H. Born, Marjorie C. Cox, Verlan Marie Rush, Jack Tozzer, Isadora C. Dix, Robert H. Lehner, Edna Riley, L. B. Geer, Russell Young, Edna Christ, and Mary M. Shultz. Selected as alternate juror was Fred Sigrist.

Representing the plaintiffs was the law firm of Donithen, Michel and Davis, and representing the Gas Co. was the law form of Moloney and Kelly.

GOOD REASONING

LUCEDALE, Miss. (UP)—When 86-year-old A. T. Whittington was bitten by a five-foot rattlesnake while picking pears he calmly cut a stick and killed the rattler, then drove two miles to his son's home. Asked at a Wiggins hospital how he killed the snake with so small a stick, Whittington said: "Well, I thought he had me and I had nothing to lose and everything to gain. Besides, he might have bitten someone else."

Marion Man Bound to Jury In 1952 Theft

Lloyd Simpson, 40, of 822 Kenton Ave. was bound over to the Marion County Grand Jury on a burglary charge from a preliminary hearing today in Municipal Court.

Simpson was accused of breaking into Carroll's Jewelry Store on W. Center St. on April 6, 1952 and stealing several watches and other jewelry.

He was arrested on the charge on Nov. 5 this year at his home. The next day he entered a plea of guilty in Municipal Court and his bond was placed at $5,000 pending a preliminary hearing.

In Court today, Simpson would make no plea and was bound over to the Grand Jury by Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

Unable to post his bond following his Nov. 6 appearance in Municipal Court Simpson had been held in the county jail since that time. His bond for his appearance before the grand jury was continued at $5,000 by Judge Hazen and again unable to post the bond, Simpson was returned to jail.

BACK TO THE FARM

BISMARCK, N. D. (UP) — Lars Kleppe, former North Dakota rancher, says a hardworking young man can start from scratch today and make a lot of money as a farmer with a $381 investment. "You can buy five horses for $75 apiece," Kleepe said, "and I've got a gang plow that cost me $5 that I'll sell for $6. That's all it takes to get started."

MIROR RESEARCH

, MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Your sex determines what you'll look at when you look in the mirror, says V. E. Browning, who installed a mirror in his elevator and found that: "Men passengers straighten their ties and almost invariably open their mouths and have a look at their teeth and tonsils. Women straighten their hair and hats and, of course, sometimes powder their noses."

Overheated Stove Causes $300 Blaze

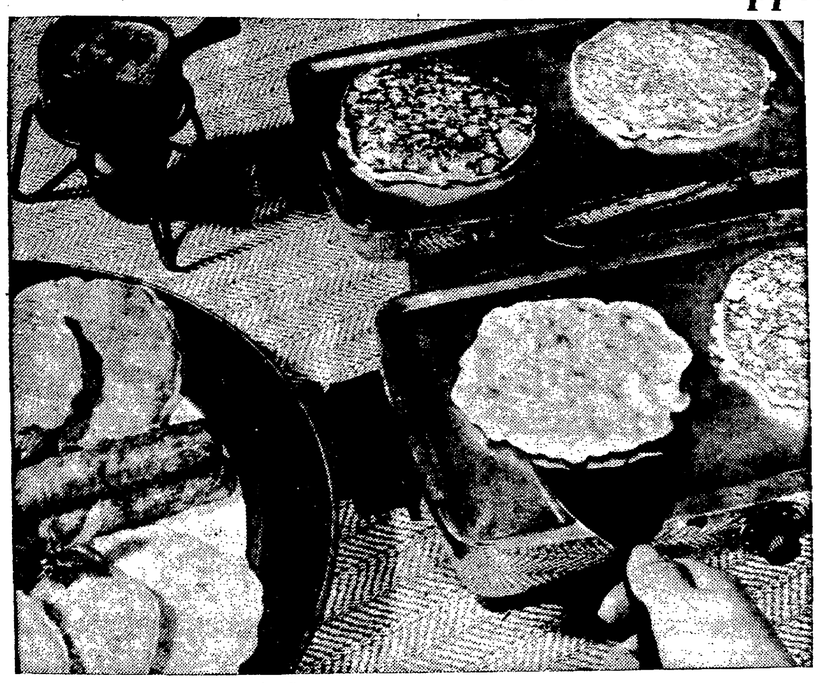
An overheated gas stove was blamed for a fire which caused an estimated $300 damage to the home of William Canada at 258 Senate St. yesterday afternoon.

Central and W. Center St. stations firemen were called at 2:18 p.m. when the stove, placed in front of a fireplace in the living room of the house, became too hot and set the wooden mantle around the fireplace and the floor on fire. The blaze was put out before it could spread to other rooms and do more damage.

City firemen were also called out one other time yesterday to the home of John Hill at 174 Edwards St. at 1:40 p.m. They reported a thermostat on an automatic hot water heater stuck, steam pressure built up in the tank causing one of the water pipes to burst. When this occurred steam came up through a hot air register and Hill thought there was a fire in the basement. There was no fire loss, firemen said.

French statisticians estimate that 65 per cent of French families own one or more bicycles.

Serve Corn Pancakes for Breakfast or Supper



Corn pancakes are a favorite for supper and breakfast. They are made by adding crunchy canned whole kernel corn to pancake batter. If you have an electric grill, make them at the table and serve them piping hot.

Be sure to have plenty of butter, syrup, honey or preserves on hand. Served with crisp bacon or sausages, you'll find this a filling meal that's easy to prepare.

Use:
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
1 cup milk
1 12-oz. can whole kernel corn
1 tablespoon melted butter

Sift flour, salt and baking poder together. Mix the slightly beaten egg, milk, corn and butter. Add to the dry ingredients and stir until just blended. Drop by spoonfuls onto a lightly greased griddle or skillet and cook until brown on each side. Makes ten to twelve pancakes.

STUDY TV EDUCATION

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Miami University will sponsor a meeting tonight to discuss setting up a southwestern Ohio coordinating board for television education. The state legislature required each state-supported school to create such a board. Other colleges in the area and representatives from farm, labor, service and industrial groups have been invited, said Miami President John D. Millett.

Bull Refuses To Die

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Shot four times at a slaughter house yesterday a bull broke loose and ran several yards into the street. Policeman H. J. Tebrinke said the tough animal dropped dead either from exhaustion or loss of blood.

Galion Winter Concert Planned for Thursday

Special to The Star

GALION — A yuletide musical treat in Galion this week is the winter concert, Thursday night, at senior high school auditorium. Marvin Fogt, director of music, will present the 90-piece Galion High School band, the senior high choir of 75 voices, the Boys' Glee Club of 35 voices, and the junior girls vocal sextette.

Christmas music will intersperse the evening's program by all musical groups. The band will open the program at 8:15 p.m., with a concert march. The program will be concluded by the choir, appearing in robes, for the singing of both sacred and Christmas numbers. Solo parts in the choir selections will be sung by Faye Rehler, Eileen Urban and Dolores Hartman.

Tickets are being sold at a nominal fee.

MOTHERHOOD

ROCK MILLS, Ala. (UP)—A cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anglin adopted a baby rabbit when her six kittens were drowned during a cloudburst.

Marion Industries Christmas Party Attended by 1,400

About 1,400 persons were present for the second annual Christmas party held for the children of employes of Marion Industries Saturday morning at the Palace Theater.

There were 934 children present, plus about 500 parents. Cartoons and comedies were shown the audience. Santa Claus was on hand to greet the youngsters as they entered the show.

The party was sponsored by the canteen fund established at the plant.

Children of the employes, plus 43 children from the Marion County Children's Home, were invited.

All the youngsters were given a box of candy, popcorn, tangerines, and apples. The food left over was divided between the Children's Home and the Marion County Home.

Handling the details for the party were Ed Parrish, Charles Littell and Jack Hughes.

Salem Gets More Time On Sewage Plant Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board has given Salem an additional month to work out a plan for improving its sewage disposal system.

The Salem city administration changes at the first of the year and the board decided to extend that city's sewage permit which was due to expire Jan. 4.

The permit to dump wastes into Ohio waters was granted on condition detailed plans for improving the old sewage plant and building a new one were ready by Jan. 4.

Salem's pollution problem was complicated when voters at the November election turned down a plan to charge sewer rentals to finance the program.

Yesterday's extension gives the city another month to work out a satisfactory plan.

Traveler Repays Police Kindness After 20 Years

TUCUMCARI, N. M. (AP)—It was cold on Feb. 6, 1931, and there was lots of snow on the ground.

C. T. Trott of Houston, Tex., rode into Tucumcari on a freight and stayed at the jail overnight. After breakfast next morning he went his way.

Trott was back in Tucumcari this week for the first time since 1931. He pressed a $5 check on Police Chief E. R. Batten for the police emergency fund.

"I've done pretty well since then," Trott said, "and I want to show my appreciation for that favor."

Mrs. Edna Baker was hostess for a Christmas party and meeting of the Reserve Class of the Central Methodist Church Thursday night. The meeting opened with the group singing "Silent Night," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Naomi Yarrington. Mrs. Gladys Charles gave the story of the "Birth of Christ," and "Greatest Story Ever Told" written by Fulton Oursler. New officers elected for the coming year are: president, Mrs. Laurel Lyons; vice president, Mrs. Lettie Baldwin; secretary Mrs. Naomi Yarrington; treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Smith; reporter, Mrs Iniz Middleton. The class presented gifts to the teacher, Mrs. Gladys Charles, and to the assistant teacher, Mrs. Edna Baker. A contribution was given to the building fund. Meetings will be held the second Thursday night of the month. A covered dish dinner will be held at the home of Mrs. Laurel Lyons Jan. 14.

The junior patrol of the Richwood Girl Scouts met at the home of their advisor, Mrs. Dorothy Barry, with the assistant patrol leader, Roseann Barry, in charge of the meeting. The members are now working on their drawing and painting badges and Christmas gifts for their mothers.

—:—

At the meeting of the Richwood senior patrol Girl Scouts held at the home of Mrs. Louise Howison, advisor, they made still life paintings and drawings on their badge project, and will present their mothers with Christmas gifts. Patrol officers elected for the coming year are: leader, Carol Sue Kelly; vice leader, Marilyn Kelly; secretary, Cherrill Ann Grandstaff; treasurer, Christine Fetter.

—:—

Eleven members answered roll call with "Where Are You Going to Spend Christmas" when the Thrifty Stitchers Club met at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Dodrill for a Christmas party. Mrs. Dodrill conducted the devotions. Plans were made for the New Year's party to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fish. The program was in charge of Mrs. Huston Ackley and Mrs. L. W. Davis. Contest prizes were given Mrs. Clyde Berens and Mrs. William Noggle. The mystery box was won by Mrs. Harry Griffith. A Christmas gift exchange was held, when secret sisters were revealed and new names drawn. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Norman Jean Hetzner. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ackley. Mrs. Dodrill was appointad reporter fo rthe coming year.

—:—

At the recent meeting of the Paul Vick Circle held at the home of Mrs. Alice Longshort. Mrs. Mable Debolt was in charge of the program which included several readings on the theme, "Stewardship." Guests were Mrs. Jack Somerlot, Mrs. Richard Ross, and Mrs. Robert Millington. A Christmas gift exchange was enjoyed. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Audrey Rich.

Galion

A Christmas program was present when members of the WSCS met recently at the Market Street Methodist Church. The hostess was Mrs. John J. Godfrey.

—:—

Plans to send Christmas boxes to a mission in Wyoming were made at the December meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Grace Episcopal Church. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Bonnar.

—:—

The 35-minute presentation of "Carols for Christmas," by a vocal trio composed of Mrs. W. W. Koppe, Miss Florence Durtschi and Mrs. David Marshall, was a feature of the Christmas party of the Galion Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night in the Rose Room of Hotel Talbott. An outstanding number was the reading of "Jacoby's Corners," by Mrs. Loren E. Beck, Galion dramatist.

Sycamore

A potluck Christmas dinner preceded the meeting of the Evangelical and Reformed Guild Wednesday. The table setting was in keeping with the holiday season. The president, Mrs. Ralph Bacon Jr., announced that the thank offering on Nov. 29 was $188. Mrs. Eldon Hartschuh was program chairman and her assistants were Mrs. Clair Corfman, Mrs. Fred Balliet, Mrs. Margaret Zellner and Mrs. Anna Park. Guests included Mrs. Harry Bretz of Dayton and Mrs. Chalmer Miller of Bucyrus.

—:—

A Christmas party was given by the Sycamore Child Study Club members for their children Saturday. The affair was held in the Evangelical and Reformed Church. Christmas films, games and refreshments filled the afternoon with the appearance of Santa Claus climaxing the program. The roll call for mothers was answered with "what I least expect for Christmas." The party was in charge of the social committee for the club, Mrs. Kenneth Ames, Mrs. Arthur Shellhouse, Mrs. William Simonis and Mrs. H. E. Roberson. The January meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Brouse.

—:—

The Women's Literary Club made a contribution to the Salvation Army at their meeting Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Ira Wenner. The money will be sent to Captain Dorothy Smith in New York City. Plans were made for the Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Ludwig on Dec. 18 at 7 p.m. Two papers were read. Mrs. Lloyd Ludwig gave the life of Albert Einstein and Mrs. Clifford Baum read the biography of Sister Elizabeth Kenny. Mrs. William Niebel assisted Mrs. Wenner in serving.

—:—

Mrs. Gayle Worthington and Mrs. Claude Beitler were hostesses for the Christmas party of the Dorcas Sunday School Class Friday night. Roll call was answered with Bible verses. Gifts were brought for the Methodist home in Berea and a gift exchange was also enjoyed by the class members. It was decided to assist in purchasing new tables for the church dining room. Plans were made to remember shut-ins at Christmas.

—:—

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper entertained the Upstreamers Class of the EUB Sunday school Friday night with 13 members answering roll call. Each member of the class will pay 50 cents toward the Christmas offering for the Otterbein home. It was decided to send a gift to Harvey Deppen, a former class member, in Tiffin who is confined to his home with an injury. The meeting closed with a prayer by C. F. Riedel. The January meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Minter.

Salvation Army Prepares Gift Baskets for Shut-Ins

Containers, Made of Old Yule Cards, Packed With Fruit, Candy

Someb 1,200 Sunshine Baskets will go out from the Salvation Army headquarters this year to homes in Marion and the community. They will be filled Monday night by members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and distributed on Dec. 20 by that organization.

The baskets will be distributed to residents of rest homes, the Marion County Home, shut-ins, City Hospital patients, inmates in the city and county jails, boys and girls in training schools and to women's Reformatory at Marysville.

—:—

IN THE BASKETS are candy, fruit, a pocket calendar, cleansing tissue, comb and a novelty gift. This year the gift is a dog fashioned from a wash cloth and soap.

Baskets going to women and children are fashioned from colorful Christmas cards and those going to the men are box-shaped cardboard baskets bearing the Salvation Army insignia.

The making of the Sunshine baskets is a year-round project of Mrs. Maude Kline of 376 Mary St. who spends months sorting the Christmas cards and cutting out the patterns for the baskets. When it comes to piecing them together she is assisted by interested individuals and groups, Golden Agers and members of the Home League.

IN THE FIVE years Mrs. Kline has had this as a project she has fashioned some 4,000 baskets. Friends and interested persons throughout Ohio and in Marion provide the Christmas cards each year.

Twelve cards are required for each basket. To produce a nice basket, and they are all lovely, the pieces must be perfect. Mrs. Kline selects an appropriate design, flowers and other motifs for the grown-ups and pictures for the smaller folks, cuts them out and pastes them on each side of the cardboard. Performations for sewing the pieces together are made on a sewing machine and they are hand-stitched with gay thread.

Mrs. Kline makes her own paste and the cost for making the baskets, aside from the work which the women are happy to contribute, is only one and one-half cents apiece.

When the contents are gone, the baskets make decorative receptacles for thread and other needed articles. At the Women's Reformatory many of the residents use them to make pin cushions.

St. Mary Cage Crew Wins First Encounter at Home

Irish Lead All the Way In Nailing 43-33 Victory

By GARY SAMS

St. Mary's Irish opened their home season last night on the Coliseum floor by squeezing by Fostoria St. Wendelin 43-33.

Coach Ray Robbins' five led all the way after a pair of deadlocks and an early Fostoria lead. A fielder by John Messenger with a minute and a half remaining in the initial stanza shoved the locals out front for keeps.

First At Coliseum

Playing on the spacious Coliseum floor for the initial time this season, the Irish, like the visitors, were only able to hit on slightly over 20 per cent of their shots from the field. Most of the locals' 10-point margin came on the 17 foul shots they made out of 33 attempts. The visiting Mohawks converted on nine of 12 trys from the foul circle.

The visitors were ahead only once. Roger Micheli got the Irish off to a flying start with a bucket at the 7:38 mark but it was Dick Walters, 6-0 Fostoria center, tying the tilt up at 2-2 with an underhand lay-up seconds later. Then Aurice Hoover boosted the losers ahead 3-2 at the 5:58 mark by clicking on the second of his two charity tosses.

The locals never trailed after that although the visitors again deadlocked the score later in the quarter. A bucket by Pat O'Connor and foul shot by Mike Anderson with 5:31 left in the period shoved the locals in front 5-3 only to have Louie Nye tally for the losers on a lay-up and knot the count at 5-5.

Then the Irish took the lead for keeps. Messenger's fielder did the trick with an overhand shot by Anderson with 51 seconds left in the initial period keeping the locals ahead 9-6. Messenger gave St. Mary a 10-7 edge at the quarter on a charity toss with 20 seconds remaining.

Lead Cut

Fostoria cut the Irish margin to three points during the second quarter on four ocassions before the locals began to widen the gap. Three quick baskets by St. Mary at the opening of the third period helped the winners on their way to a 14-point bulge at one time. The losers were held to only three free throws in that period which concluded with the locals holding a 34-21 edge.

Three successive baskets by the visitors early in the final period cut the Irish margin to 35-28 and with five minutes remaining, the locals went into a freeze to protect their lead. Fostoria succeeded in slicing the locals' margin to six points twice in the next three minutes but its pressing in the final two minutes didn't effect the Irish. St. Mary's only field goal of the period came with only seconds left in the contest.

A pair of baskets by Anderson and a pair of charity tosses with 4:59 left in the second period by him again offset two fielders by Walters for the losers and shoved the locals ahead 16-11. Fostoria slimmed the Irish bulge to three points twice later but the locals maintained their five point bulge, 23-18, at intermission.

A field goal by Micheli and two straight ones by Larry Ryan from the side in the first minute of play in the third stanza gave the Irish a 29-18 working margin which they increased to 34-21 at the three-quarter mark.

Boosts Lead

A free throw by Michell at the 7:32 mark boosted the winners ahead 35-21 but the visitors suddenly went on a spurt that cut the Irish lead to seven points. A charity toss and two successive lay-ups by Walters and a bucket by Nye made it 35-28 at the 5:24 mark.

Messenger on a charity toss a minute later shot the Irish in front 36-28 but Gene Reinhart on an easy lay-up at the 4:02 mark slimmed the winners edge to 36-30. Foul shots by Messenger and Anderson put St. Mary in the drivers seat 38-30 before Fostoria again trimmed the Irish lead to six with 2:15 left on Aurice Hoover's bucket. Foul shots by Messenger and Anderson and a fielder by O'Connor in the dying minutes of the tilt gave the locals their final margin.

Anderson High

Anderson with 12 markers, Messenger with 10 and O'Connor with eight sparked the Irish attack. Walters was high for the losers with 11 points and was followed by Hoover with 10.

St. Mary's Reserves notched an easy 33-23 win in the preliminary as Jon Smith tallied 13 points. Both squads are in action again Saturday night on the Coliseum floor, meeting Tiffin Calvert.

Iberia Beaten With Last-Minute Score

IBERIA — Mt. Gilead edged Iberia here last night 73-71 in a rough game for its third straight victory of the season.

Walt Chambers of the losers tied the score at 71-71 but with 15 seconds remaining, Ted Moody pumped in the winning basket. The game was close all the way with the contest marked by numerous ties and the lead changing hands as often. Mt. Gilead gained five points on the losers in the final period for the winning margin.

The winners sunk 30 field goals to only 24 for the losers but Iberia made it close on 23 free throws resulting from 25 personal fouls called on the winners.

Ted Moody paced the Mt. Gilead attack with 28 points. Howard Miller hit for 26 for the losers and Don Robinson added 22. Iberia's reserves rolled to their sixth straight win in the preliminary 55-45.

Eber Baker Cagers Win Third in Row

Eber Baker Junior High led all the way last night to rack up its third straight victory, a 37-22 win over the Meeker Juniors on the losers' court. It was a non-league game.

Paced by Gary Sanders who tossed in 10 points, Baker raced ahead 11-3 by the end of the first quarter and built up a 21-5 lead by half-time. After clinching the contest by stretching the lead to 20 points, 33-13, at the end of the third period, the winners coasted through the final frame as the reserves took over.

Larry Henry was second highman for Baker with nine points, while Dick Nixon had seven to rank third.

White and Holcomb had eight apiece to share scoring honors for Meeker.

Prexy Football Schedule Filled For 1954, 1955

Harding High School's football schedules for 1954 and 1955 have been completed, Ken Somerlot, athletic coordinator, announced today.

The grid Prexies will play the same schedule during 1954 which they recently completed with a 6-2-1 mark. However, in 1955 three new schools will be played with all three playing on the local gridiron. The new foes will be Newark, Toledo Macomber and Columbus South.

The schedule for next year includes the following games: Sept. 17, Columbus West; Sept 24, at Bowling Green; Oct. 1, Tiffin Columbian; Oct. 8, at Fostoria; Oct. 15 Columbus Central; Oct. 22, Findlay; Oct. 28, Ashland; Nov. 5, at Fremont; Nov. 12, at Sandusky.

The 1955 schedule follows: Sept. 16 at Columbus West; Sept. 23, Newark; Sept. 30, Toledo Macomber; Oct. 7, Fostoria; Oct. 14, Columbus South; Oct. 21, at Findlay; Oct. 27, at Ashland; Nov. 4, Fremont; Nov. 11, at Sandusky.

Meeker Crew Nips Radnor's Trojans

Ron Newland poured in 20 points last night to lead Meeker to a 66-55 victory over Radnor.

Dick Sharp had 14 and Bob Johnston 10 to rank second and third, in the Meeker scoring column. John Robinson scored 17 for the losing Radnor squad.

Trailing 13-12 at the end of the first quarter, Meeker showed who was boss when it forged ahead to a convincing 33-22 lead by halftime and led the rest of the way.

In the reserve tilt it was Meeker 23-21, Ralph Wenig leading the winning cause with six markers. Meeker goes into action again Friday night when it entertains Morral in county league competition.

Kellogg Joins Globetrotters For Friday Card at Coliseum

Junius Kellogg, the six-foot-seven inch giant from New York's Manhattan College, who broke the 1951 basketball "fix scandal" wide open, has joined the famed Harlem Globetrotters, who face the Philadelphia Sphas at the Coliseum Friday.

Kellogg, co-captain of Manhattan last season, gained world-wide fame and respect when he refused to accept a $1,000 bribe to "dump" a game between Manhattan and DePaul of Chicago at Madison Square Garden.

He reported the offer to his coach, who in turn notified the district attorney's office. That started an investigation which led to the arrest and conviction of some of the nation's top-ranking college players and well - known gamblers who had been fixing games in the New York area.

Following the game, Kellogg was honored by outstanding civic and religious organizations across the country. The citizens of his home town, Portsmouth, Va., gave him a $1,000 award in cash.

But all that is past history. Junius' major objective now is to keep his berth on the famous Globetrotters. So far he has been exceedingly impressive. Owner-coach Abe Saperstein smiles when he sees the big youth in action. He says:

"Kellogg has what it takes to make a star on this team. He moves exceptionally well for a man of his size and has a good eye. All he needs is added experience."

The Washington Generals and Toledo Mercurys, two strong independent clubs, will meet in the co-feature of Friday's program starting at 8 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at Henney & Cooper's and the National City Bank.

Jim Howell Named Giants' Grid Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who learned all he knows about football from Steve Owen today holds the coaching reins of he New York Giants professional football team.

The appointment of Jim Lee Howell as Giant head man filled the gap when Owen retired from the coaching position he had held since 1928 to head the organization's scouting system.

Howell, an end for the University of Arkansas, served at that position for the New Yorkers from 1937 through 1947 with the exception of three years in the Marines. He had been an end coach and assistant to Owen since that time.

Howell said after he was named to succeed Owen, "Steve taught me everything I know about the game."

Charles Picked Over Wallace In TV Match

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Heavyweight title contenders Ezzard Charles and Coley Wallace battle it out here tonight in a 10-round fight, the outcome of which carries important implications.

Former champion Charles can strengthen his claims for another crack at the crown he won in 1949 and lost in 1951 to Jersey Joe Walcott. He failed to regain it from Walcott and has been on the challenge-fringe since. If he doesn't win tonight he's "dundee," in the parlance of the fight mob.

This is a nationally televised encounter, starting at 10 p.m., EST, in Civic Auditorium.

Wallace, 25, younger and with the burning ambition to fill the shoes of his idol, ex-champ Joe Louis, is ready to try to obliterate the 32-year-old Charles.

A special reason for Coley's ambition is the fact he played the part of Louis in the recently released movie depicting the life of the great former champion.

The experts, unswayed by sentiment, think Charles is a certain winner. The New Yorker will have a weight advantage of 205 pounds to 187.

Charles, ringwise, lean and tough, has trained impressively. Co-managers Tom Tannas and Jake Mintz describe him as "mean."

"Our man realizes what this fight means to him," Mintz said. "Ezzard doesn't even expect a title shot if he beats Wallace. He wants to wipe out that loss to Nino Valdes first. And if Harold Johnson wants another go, he will be accomodated. We admit Valdes beat Charles last August but we're hollering plenty about that decision they gave to Johnson a month later in Philadelphia."

The two defeats jolted Charles out of the No. 1 contenders' position. In his only two bouts this year, Wallace decisioned Sandy McPherson and stopped Bill Gilliam, neither ranked among the first 10.

Illini No. 1

Purdue's Win Over MSC Called Season's Top Upset

By HUGH FULLERTON JR

NEW YORK (AP)—If you see a man walking around with a strange light in his eyes, clutching a typewriter and looking as if he has mislaid his overcoat (which he probably has) don't call the cops. He's just a football expert who hasn't recovered from the surprises and upsets of the 1953 season.

The nation's sports writers and broadcasters, asked to name the Surprise Team of the Year in The Associated Press post-season poll, came up with 54 different names. And they listed 42 separate games under the heading of "outstanding upsets."

The final count of ballots gave Illinois the call as the No. 1 surprise team with Stanford, Iowa, Auburn and Army close behind. The greatest upset, by a considerable margin, was Purdue's 6-0 decision over the 1952 national champion, Michigan State, late in October.

Very little had been expected of the untried Illinois team before the season started. But a couple of sophomores, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates, came along to turn it into one of the nations outstanding teams and co-champion of the Big Ten. With Caroline smashing the Big Ten rushing record, set by Red Grange, the Illini won seven straight games before they were stopped, 34-7, by Wisconsin.

That game, incidentally, was ranked No. 5 among the season's upsets by the voters.

Sixty of 279 voters listed Illinois as the No. 1 surprise team, 39 more put the Illini second and 20 third.

On the usual 3-2-1 scoring basis, that counted up to 278 points. Stanford, which just missed out on the Pacific Coast Conference title and the Rose Bowl assignment after beating the eventual winner, UCLA collected 38 first-place votes and 183 points for second place. Then came Iowa with 154 points, Auburn with 148 and Army wth 105.

All these were teams which finished strongly and with good season records after being overlooked in the preseason calculations. Iowa tied mighty Notre Dame after walloping Purdue and Minnesota; Auburn, at the bottom of the Southeastern Conference standings a year ago, finished close to the top this year, and Army won the unofficial Eastern title.

In addition to Purdues victory over Michigan State, other notable upsets were picked in this order: Mississippi Southern's 25-19 victory over Alabama, Houston's 37-7 beating of Baylor and Iowa's 14-14 tie with Notre Dame.

In the first game ever played in the Yankee Stadium—May 28, 1946—the Yankees lost to the Senators, 2-1.

Johnstown Thwarts Barons' Drive for League Lead

Marion Drops 6-3 Verdict As Jets Increase Margin

Special to The Star

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—After two unsuccessful attempts, Johnstown finally defeated Marion, 6-3, before a scant 1,695 crowd here last night to increase its International Hockey League lead to three points over idle Cincinnati.

The loss prevented the Barons from moving into a first-place deadlock.

Don Hall, the league's leading scorer, broke loose unassisted at 1:08 of the first period to give Coach Chirp Brenchley's home forces a 1-0 lead. Ted Lebioda, was exiled in the penalty box for slashing at the time.

Barons Take League Lead

With Bi" Gallagher of the Jets in the box for high sticking, the visitors tied the score 1-1, when Ken Schult scored the first of his two goals. Twenty-eight seconds later with both clubs at full strength, Harold Jones grabbed a relay from Schultz and potted the puck from four feet out for a 2-1 Marion advantage.

Art Dorrington took a relay from Cliff McArther at the blue line and fired away from close range from the left side of the Marion net. Baron Goalie Lou Crowdis blocked the shot. Dorrington pivoted around the rebound on the right side and slipped the puck past Crowdis to tie the score at 7:32 of the second period

Kelly pounded out a hard smash from the left red circle at 12:50 for a 3-2 Jet edge. Hall tallied his second goal of the night less than three minutes later after he was served by Dorrington and Kelly. He almost skated into the Marion cage as he hiked the Johnstown bulge to 4-2 at 19:15.

Schultz fired a 15-foot shot straight down the center through a tangle of skates and sticks in the first 33 seconds of the final frame for the Barons, their last goal of the night. Jet Goalie Roy's vision was screened on the play. Eight minutes later Bruce rapped the black disc into the Marion rigging to hike the lead to 6-3 after Puddicombe and Joe Medynski broke through the Marion defense with a relay to set up the tally.

Crowdis Called

Baron Goalie Crowdis, who had 26 saves, was instructed to join the Cleveland Barons in Syracuse. The Cleveland goalie, Emil Francis, was hurt. Jet net tender Claud Roy had 15 stops.

GIANTS WERE AMBASSADORS

TOKYO (AP) — The New York Giants proved good-will ambassadors on their 14-game tour of Japan. More than 425,000 fans saw the Giants play various local teams. An additional 30,000 sat in the stands in the Hawaiian Islands, Okinawa and Manila.

Iona College played its first Madison Square Garden basketball game on Dec. 15, 1951 and bowed to Seton Hall 70-60.

Ed Barrow Dies

Lengthy Sickness Claims Former Head of Yankees

PORT CHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Ed Barrow, the man who discovered Honus Wagner, changed Babe Ruth into an outfielder and developed the New York Yankees into the most feared team in baseball, died of cancer last night. He was 85.

In July he entered Port Chester United Hospital and his close friends knew his death was only a question of time.

He remained cheerful. His mind was clear and he continued to receive visitors. His physical condition continued to decline and early in November he lapsed into a coma for 36 hours. Then he rallied, began eating again and seemed improved until a relapse Sunday.

Twenty-four hours before his death, his personal physician, Dr. Curlin Craven, said: "He has put up a marvelous battle. He is going to die. It might be tomorow or next week. Then again, it may be much longer."

Barrow retired in 1947, selling his stock in the Yankees for $300,000. He had been with the club for 26 years.

Born Edward Grant Barrow in Springfield, Ill., May 10, 1868, he was city editor of the Des Moines Leader when he first got into baseball as a semipro manager. He moved into organized ball at Wheeling, W. Va., in the old Interstate League, and then to Paterson, N. J., Detroit, Indianapolis and Toronto.

He quit baseball in 1908 to run a Toronto hotel but came back to the sport in 1910 as a manager at Montreal. He was president of the International League for seven years before moving to Boston as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Here he met Ruth, a left-handed pitcher, and changed him into an outfielder.

"It was the biggest gamble I ever took in my life," Barrow admitted later, "but I never had reason to regret it."

Ruth was sold to the Yankees in 1920 and Barrow soon followed as business manager and secretary of the club. Col. Jake Ruppert was the president but everybody knew it was "Cousin Ed" who ran the club. Barrow took over as president when Ruppert died. In 1946 he became chairman of the Board of Directors when a syndicate headed by Larry McPhail bought the team.

Wagner, a bow-legged Dutchman, was Barrow's pride and joy. He found him in Carnegie, Pa., throwing rocks and later sold him to Louisville as a shortstop. He admired many of the present-day players including Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks, but he maintained Wagner was the greatest.

"I always thought he was a wonderful man," Wagner said when he learned of Barrow's death. "He did everything he could for the players. He was a great baseball man."

Wagner was one of many leading baseball figures who paid tribute to Barrow.

"I think Ed Barrow was really the greatest baseball man—everything considered—in my time," said Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, called Barrow one of "the greatest baseball men I ever knew."

Baron Officials Expect Goalie To Return for Sunday's Match

Lou Crowdis, the Barons' standout goalie, has been ordered to report to the parent Cleveland Barons where he will stand by to take over for the injured Emile Francis.

However, he won't be missing any action with the local club. Tony Hemmerling, general manager of the Marion club, reported this morning that Crowdis will probably be back in the Baron lineup when the team plays its next game, a contest with Johnstown Sunday afternoon.

Tonight Crowdis joins Cleveland in Syracuse where the squad will be playing a contest that could decide the lead of the American Hockey League.

Jim Hendy, Cleveland manager, ordered Crowdis to report on the advice of the club physician who said that Francis may have to be benched with swelling from his cracked cheek bone.

The 150-pound goal-tender suffered the injury in a game against Providence Saturday night. He finished that game, however, and saw action again against Providence Sunday and against Syracuse last night when he made 30 saves. But the swelling has become worse and may keep him off the ice.

Crowdis will be with Cleveland tonight and Saturday night when they entertain Syracuse at the Arena. With Cleveland idle Sunday, he will be back in Marion that day.

U.S. Steel Hour

The United States Steel Hour on ABC-TV (alternate Tuesday 9:30 p.m. EST) started out its existence with a tremendously exciting and disturbing adult drama called "POW." It has not since maintained quite that pace and could hardly be expected to. Still, every one of its productions I have seen have been marked by a seriousness of purpose that indicates this hour-long drama will have to be counted as one of the more respectable of television's enterprises.

J. CROSBY

"POW" was a sensitive study of the effects of prolonged imprisonment, hardship and mental torture on a group of American prisoners of war who are recovering from it all in an American hospital. They are torn by their own consciences at momentary weakening under torture, as well as by terrible hostilities toward each other built up by months of enforced and not very pleasant companionship.

-:-

IT WASN'T A VERY pretty drama but it was an exceedingly honest one and, let's face it, it revolved around one of the most important and recurrent themes of our time—much as I wish it didn't.

War prisoners and war prisons have produced all manner of plays, movies and books for quite a few years now. It's distressing to note that the tone of them which, in some of the British "escape" books was almost jocular, has become increasingly grim. The standards of imprisonment have degenerated to a state that could hardly have been much worse under Attila the Hun.

"POW" attempted to show what happens to civilized man when he first encounters uncivilized men, what happens ot his spirit, his mind, his emotions. A lot of things, not all of them edifying, happen and they are likely to happen to the strong as well as to the weak. Heroism and villainy become comparative matters, depending on how much you have had to endure.

THE MAIN STRUGGLE in this play was an internal one in the mind of one of the POW's, vividly played by Richard Kiley, to square his conscience with what he did—or thought he did—under duress. Inner turmoil of this nature is among the most difficult things to put into any dramatic terms and David Davidson, who wrote it especially for television, did a fine taut job of playwriting.

The most recent U. S. Steel play, "Man in Possession," was as frivolous as "POW" was grim. This one was a terrible British romp entirely suited to the very special comedy talents of Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer who, as a matter of fact, had played it before on the U. S. Steel radio show.

Mr. Harrison and Miss Palmer are the most engaging and expert husband-and-wife team now acting (a statement I make with some trepidation since there are quite a few husband and wife teams in operation) and they bring enormous ubanity and charm, to say nothing of great technical skill, to the most egregious nonsense.

THIS WAS' A STORY about a gay scamp (Mr. Harrison), just recently sprung from prison, who chivvies his stuffily respectable brother out of his fiancee, a lovely but bankrupt widow played by Miss Palmer.

Mr. Harrison got an awful lot of fun out of such lines as "Well, father, how are things in men's underwear?" Miss Palmer was bewitching, tempting and comic—a difficult combination—and she was also awfully well-dressed which may sound unimportant but which, in a play of this nature, isn't. It wasn't art but it was lovely theater.

The only other U. S. Steel presentation was "Hope for Harvest," which harbored Faye Emerson. This adaptation of a 1941 Broadway play was a well-meaning enterprise but frankly it bored the hell out of me. Still, the boys were in there, trying.

The U. S. Steel Hour is produced by the Theater Guild. The producer-director is Alex Segal who formerly directed the destinies of Pulitzer Prize Playhouse and Celanese Theater. In short, it's in good hands. Incidentally on Jan. 5—you might mark this down—the play will be Ibsens "Hedda Gabler" with Tallulah Bankhead playing her first dramatic role on television.

(New York Herald Tribune)

From 1940 to 1950 the proportion of women in the U.S. population who were married decreased from about 24 per cent to about 20 per cent.

Mrs. Roberts Named To Head Weekday Religious Education

At a recent meeting of the committee on Weekday Religious Education of the Marion County Council of Churches, Mrs. Kenneth Roberts was chosen to head the group as chairman. Elected to serve with her were Miss Reta VanMeter, vice chairman; Miss Ruth Drollinger, secretary; Warren Cyders, treasurer; Mrs. J. B. Holloway, Miss Katharyn Smith, and Miss Wilma Click, curriculum committee; and Don Farrar, Mrs. Roy Kaufman, and Rev. Ashley Booth, public relations committee.

The meeting was held at Trinity Baptist Church. Miss Garnet Laird, a teacher in the religious education setup, assisted by fourth grade pupils from Pearl Street School gave a demonstration lesson on the theme "Making a Wise Choice." Mrs. Thelma Willcox, supervisor of Marion's program of religion classes in the city schools, chosen president recently of the Ohio Weekday Religious Education Teachers Association, gave a report on the work here.

She said that 1,778 children are enrolled in the classes in Marion and Green Camp, representing 96.3 per cent of the children in the third, fourth and fifth grades participating in the program. Discussion was held on presentation of a pageant by these classes in the spring, an original production of Mrs. Willcox in which she will be assisted by the Weekday Religious Education committee and teachers. Third teacher of the religious education program here is Miss Evelyn Greenamyer.

A service of consecration for the teachers and committee was conducted by Rev. L. Harrison Ludwig of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, president of the Council of Churches Special music was a solo, "O Lord Thy Benediction Give," by Mrs. Ludwig.

Judge, Staff Visit In Municipal Court

Delaware's newly elected Municipal Court Judge Henry Wolfe, his bailiff and clerk paid a visit to Marion Municipal Court today to observe the operations of the court.

Judge Wolfe has the responsibility of organizing the first municipal court in the history of Delaware. The new city court will begin operations on Jan. 2, Judge Wolfe said today.

Previously the only court in operation in Delaware was a mayor's court with Mayor J. F. Pinney serving as the judge.

Bailiff for the new Municipal Court will be Charles Riddle and clerk is Mrs. Edward Lyons. Judge Wolfe said he has also visited Municipal Courts in Wooster, Bellefontaine and Urbana learning the best method of operation.

The number of horses on U.S. farms was reduced from 25 million in 1910 to around 5½ million in 1953.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market swept ahead today in a general forward movement.

Gains ran to around 2 points at the best with the buoyancy well distributed throughout the list.

Business was brisk with the pace nearing the two million mark for the day. Yesterday's total came to 1,450,000 shares.

There were many points of individual strength with the best showing being made by electronic shares, aircrafts, oils, steels, railroads, as well as motion pictures, coppers, motors, rubbers, and tobaccos.

Today's improvement follows a series of six declines in eight sessions. A generally higher trend was shown at the opening, and as the betterment spread there was a concerted rush to buy.

It was felt in brokerage circles that the upturn in the market indicated that the recent spurt of liquidation might be approaching an end for the moment. Such a bullish feeling rapidly gained converts.

PERSONAL SONGS

COLUMBUS, Miss. (UP) — Dr. Sigfred Matson composes a song for each of his private piano pupils during her senior year at Mississippi State College for Women, fitting the composition to the personality of the subject. Titles include "Spunky," "Toccata," and "Impudence."

BEEF COUNTRY

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (UP) — Contrary to popular belief about New Zealanders' eating tastes, lamb is not their first choice. It's beef. Government statistics show New Zealanders eat 109.9 pounds of beef per capita, and only 66.2 pounds of mutton, with lamb 'way down the list at 10.5 pounds.

In mid-November, 1953 the U.S. Commodity Credit Corp. owned 427 million bushels of wheat.

PHOTO LISTINGS
One picture tells a better story than 10,000 words so, let us dispense with vague descriptions. Come into our office and see these homes. Unless a home has a pleasing exterior, nine clients out of ten don't want to look inside. You can see more homes for sale in our office in five minutes than you can see in five months of tiresome driving up one street and down another. Conserve your energy—conserve your time.

Office open 6 days per week 9 to 5. By appointment Sundays.

ANNIE ROONEY -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- -:- By Darrell McClure

NATURALLY, YOU HAVENT TOLD ANNIE THAT THIS WAS ONCE THE PRIVATE SCHOOL OF THAT CRUEL MRS. MEANY — FROM WHICH SHE RAN AWAY— ??
OF COURSE NOT—
I MANAGED TO CONVINCE THE CHILD THAT MRS. MEANY WAS ONLY THE FIGMENT OF A HORRIBLE NIGHTMARE — AND, BY GRAVY, THAT'S THE WAY IT'S GOING TO STAY —
—I DONT KNOW HOW, BUT IN SOME FASHION, FAIR OR FOUL, I'LL KEEP THAT SWEET CHILD OUT OF MRS. MEANY'S WITCHLIKE CLUTCHES—
OH, CORNELIUS—YOU'RE SPLENDID—NO WONDER I LOVE YOU SO!
EH? HUH? WHA-WHAT'S THAT?? MOLLY—D-DID YOU SAY—???
